Conciliators In Detroit To Balk Any Attempt To Cause Greater Delay

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 28—The short-lived but riot-ridden strike at Bethlehem Steel's giant plant in nearby Lackawanna came to a peaceful end today when the strikers voted to accept a government-sponsored settlement which they said already had been approved by the company. The settlement, evolved by the federal office of production management, follows almost to the letter the program outlined by the Steel Workers Organizing Committee (CIO) as a prelude to resumption of work.

By International News Service Production on billions of dollars worth of National Defense orders was crippled by country-wide strikes today as government officials launched negotiations designed to start the wheels spinning again in the strike-bound industries.

William S. Knudsen, director general of the office of production management, who is charged with the responsibility of keeping America's defense industries moving, expressed hope that negotiations would terminate strikes in two big defense industry plants and bring labor unity in a third.

In Buffalo, at the strike-bound Lackawanna plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company both CIO leaders and company heads indicated a willingness to accept the government's three-point program for ending the walkout. Knudsen, commenting in Washington, said he hoped to have the employees back to work by tonight.

Ace Resting Well; Here's Wreckage

RICKENBACKER LITTLE BETTER

Three Way Investigation Of Crash In Georgia Begins; Two Remain Serious

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 28—Although doctors at Piedmont Hospital reported his condition to be "still serious," gallant Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, America's ace of aces during the World War, promised his legions of friends the world over today that "I'll be out of here in a few days."

Capt. Rickenbacker suffered multiple external injuries when a luxury sleeper plane of Eastern Airlines, of which he is president, hurtled into a wooded knoll some five miles southeast of the Atlanta airport early yesterday, seven persons, including the crew of three, were killed, and nine, including Rickenbacker, were injured.

This morning, the nurse in attendance on Rickenbacker's floor said he passed a "very restful" night and that his condition was somewhat improved although still listed as serious.

The famous war flyer suffered a fractured left hip, broken rib, fractured nose and contusions over the right eye, but should recover fairly rapidly, doctors stated, unless internal injuries are found.

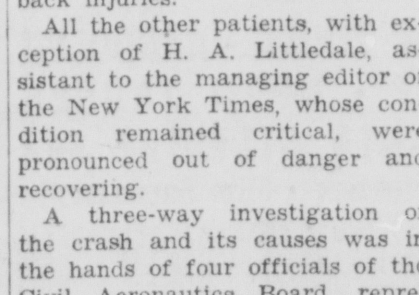

"The possibilities of internal injuries must always be considered in cases of this kind," a hospital spokesman said.

Last night, it had been hoped Capt. Rickenbacker would be able to receive newsmen today, but this, hospital authorities said, was extremely doubtful.

Film Industry Honors Jimmie Stewart, Ginger Rogers For Their Work

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 28—The oracle has spoken and all filmland today paid tribute to the champions of the industry, those talented and popular individuals and companies winning trophies for outstanding achievements during 1940.

More than 1,500 leaders of the glamour business gathered last night in all their glitter, robes, satins and diamonds in the Biltmore Bowl to celebrate the annual awarding of the golden statuettes, commonly known as "Oscars," by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

The banquet opened on a solemn note with a broadcast by President Roosevelt from the White House. He praised American films as foremost in all the world "in these days of anxiety and world peril," added that dictators "think it a dangerous thing" for their unfortunate people to know, through our films, that in America we have public servants, not masters, and thanked the industry for "promoting solidarity of all the Americans."

The most coveted of the little awards went to James Stewart and Ginger Rogers and they turned out to be a pair of stammering, emotion-struck Thespians, as shy and reticent as neighborhood kids taking their first turns on amateur night at the little playhouse around the corner.

Stewart's "Oscar" was inscribed "for the best performance by an actor" and Ginger's read the same, except "by an actress." Jimmy's championship vehicle was "The Philadelphia Story," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, and Miss Rogers' was "Kitty Foyle," turned out by R-K-O.

The "outstanding motion picture of the year" was "Rebecca," a United Artist release by David Selznick and it marked a sort of a record by Mr. Selznick for he is the gentleman who walked off with practically all the honors a year ago with "Gone With the Wind."

JOHN BULL READY TO CARRY WAR INTO BULGARIA

LONDON, Feb. 28—Prospect of a diplomatic rupture between Britain and Bulgaria, which might lead to open warfare, came closer today as authoritative British circles said British Minister George Rendel's departure from Sofia "cannot be delayed."

It was stated, however, that no date has yet been fixed for Rendel and members of the legation staff to depart from Bulgaria.

British quarters declared the Sofia government must "assume full responsibility" in view of the "considerable help" Bulgaria has extended to Germany.

Rumors that German army Panzer corps have begun crossing the Danube River into Bulgaria reached Sofia.

Rendel warned that British forces are prepared to strike instantly against "hundreds if not thousands" (Continued on Page Five)

LEASE-LEND ACT FOES DEMANDING LONGER DEBATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., leading non-interventionist, today denounced the lease-lend bill as a measure which "would strip us of our defense, invite the chief executive to plunge the country into war, and create a dictatorship."

Wheeler attacked the proposal as unconstitutional in a speech prepared for senate debate as Sen. Maloney (D) Conn. took up cudgels in behalf of the aid-emeracencies program.

As the Montana member urged rejection of the bill senate leaders admitted that their program of early passage has been smashed by the growing resistance of the opposition. Majority Leader Bark (Continued on Page Five)

ADMIRAL DARLAN WARNS AGAINST FOOD SEIZURES

VICHY, Feb. 28—Holding a reunion with former French soldiers, Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan warned that France may go to war against Britain if the British keep on confiscating French food ships, it was reported reliably today.

Darlan was said to have stated that the Vichy government does not want to fight Britain, but might "change its mind" if the British continue to halt and seize the vessels.

Eastern Part Of Singapore Harbor To Be Mined By British March 3

TOKYO, Feb. 28—Events in the jittery Far East approached the explosion point today and relations between Japan and France took a grave turn as French Indo-China showed signs of ignoring a virtual ultimatum reportedly served by the Tokyo government.

According to authentic information in Tokyo, the "ultimatum" demanded a favorable reply by midnight (11 a. m. EST) to Japan's compromise proposal for settlement of the conflict between Indo-China and Thailand (Siam).

Japan was stated to have warned she would resort to "forceful action" if French Indo-Chinese authorities and the Vichy government fail to produce a satisfactory reply by the midnight "deadline."

(Editor's Note: According to the London Daily Express the French Vichy government has defied the Japanese ultimatum. A meeting of the Vichy cabinet was called for this afternoon. An official French spokesman was quoted as stating "France has fixed maximum, iron-bound concessions and she certainly will not go an inch beyond them, whatever happens.")

Singapore To Be Mined (Indicating that gravity with which Britain views the Far Eastern crisis, a dispatch from Singapore said authorities there announced that the eastern approaches to Singapore Harbor will be mined and closed to shipping from March 3, after which date vessels will enter that area at their own risk. This extends the great mine fields placed around Singapore and announced February 16.

In Tokyo highly placed authorities admitted the Indo-Chinese-Thailand mediation conference has reached a "delicate" stage and hinges on French acceptance of demands put forward on behalf of Thailand.

Japanese authorities made no secret of the fact that an "unequivocal yes or no answer" is demanded from the French by midnight tonight at the latest.

WITH BRITISH FIGHTING FORCES IN ITALIAN SOMALILAND—British Imperial forces have shattered an entire Italian division in fierce fighting along the Juba River front in Italian Somaliland, British authorities revealed today. They declared 3,000 Italians were taken prisoner, including three brigadier generals.

BALBOA, C. Z.—United States authorities today investigated the crash of an American army B-18 bomber, which apparently met disaster while on a training flight from the Rio Hata training base. First reports of the accident came from natives of Taboga Island in Panama Bay that a large plane had crashed in flames. The natives said they saw two airmen parachuting into the Pacific.

TURKEY'S move to close the Dardanelles to all shipping on the heels of the arrival in Ankara of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and General Sir John Dill, chief of the British imperial general staff, apparently signified successful pressure by the British to gain aid in the eastern Mediterranean from Turkey. Eden and Dill reached Ankara shortly after Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, reportedly had given Turkish officials a private showing of "The Victory in the West," the Nazi propaganda film of the German successes in France and the Low Countries.

CARS AND TRUCK FIGURE IN CRASH ON RT. 23 SOUTH

A car and a truck were damaged in a collision on Route 23, three miles south of Circleville Thursday night, passengers of neither vehicle being injured.

According to Deputy Sheriff Robert Armstrong, Jack Chenault, 33 Ewing Street, Chillicothe, headed south, had pulled his car to the side of the road to repair a tire puncture and Alburn Manson, Circleville RFD, in swinging his farm truck out to pass the parked car collided with the northbound automobile of Ben F. Coffman, 108 South Washington Street, Columbus.

The left front end of the truck, including the front wheels, were badly bent, the Coffman car also receiving front end damages. The parked car was scratched but not damaged badly, the deputy said. The accident happened about 10 p. m.

Slight damages were done to two cars which slid together on Route 23 a mile north of the city Thursday night about 6 o'clock, Deputy Armstrong reported. Miss Jane Mader, 464 East Main Street, had parked along the side of the road when an automobile driven by W. D. Current, 682 South Green Street, Columbus, struck her car from the rear. The right front fender of Current's car and the left rear fender of Miss Mader's car were bent.

DUCE PREPARES FINAL DEFENSES

ROME, Feb. 28—Italy may abandon Somaliland and Eritrea to advancing British forces and make her stand in the mountain fastnesses of Ethiopia, the Italian press indicated today.

Premier Mussolini's own newspaper, the Popolo d'Italia of Milan, made this prediction as the Italian high command admitted that Mogadiscio, capital of Somaliland, had been evacuated and presumably later occupied by British troops.

The lowlands of Somaliland and Eritrea in East Africa are hardly defensible against modernized attack, Popolo pointed out.

Thus both may be lost by the fortunes of war. But in the mountains of Ethiopia, adequate defenses are possible, Popolo said, (Continued on Page Five)

HOBOKENITE LITTLE TOO PATRIOTIC, GRABS SEAMEN

HOBOKEN, N. J., Feb. 28—Tony Farley, 36, today was told by police to hold his patriotism in check.

Police charged that Tony, driving along the Hoboken docks, mistook three Dutch seamen for fifth columnists and threatened them with a B-E gun.

The non-English speaking seamen, frightened and bewildered, were "rescued" when police, attracted by the commotion, arrived on the scene.

Farley was released after receiving a sharp warning from Recorder Robert McAlevy against directing his patriotism in the wrong channels.

Minister In Sofia Warns Action To Be Immediate

BERLIN, Feb. 28—Strong reports that Bulgaria tomorrow will sign a treaty placing her on the side of the Rome-Berlin axis were heard in Berlin today.

There was no official confirmation. Official German quarters refused to discuss the reports at all.

But seasoned correspondents recalled that the Reich invariably has followed a policy of saying little or nothing about such momentous events until they have occurred.

(Editor's Note: George Reidel, British minister to Sofia, has pointed out that "consequences" if Bulgaria joins the axis camp and lays herself open as a potential theatre of war.)

Well-informed quarters in Berlin expressed keen interest in dispatches from Budapest which quoted the authoritative Hungarian newspaper Pester Lloyd as stating Bulgaria would sign a three-point pact at Vienna tomorrow.

From this it was inferred that Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Filoff and Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff planned still another visit to German territory. The last time Filoff left Bulgaria it was said to be for a rest cure. He returned to Sofia only a short time ago.

From this it was inferred that Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Filoff and Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff planned still another visit to German territory. The last time Filoff left Bulgaria it was said to be for a rest cure. He returned to Sofia only a short time ago.

FOR OFFICIAL REASONS

If he is coming to Vienna tomorrow, it was pointed out, it can only be for official reasons.

So far as Bulgarian adherence to the tripartite pact is concerned, or the nature of the three points reported in the Budapest dispatch, German quarters had nothing to say.

But Masanori Oshima, new Japanese ambassador to Germany, is now at Berchtesgaden and is due to visit Vienna tomorrow. Thus the setting is perfect for some new demonstration of axis solidarity.

Even neutral observers in Berlin conceded that Bulgarian adherence to the tripartite pact at this particular moment of Balkan uneasiness would be a most effective counter-stroke to British diplomatic activities in Turkey.

Efforts of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to line up Turkey on a war basis would be largely nullified, it was said, if Bulgaria openly placed herself on the axis side and granted full cooperation to whatever plans might be put forward by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

At the same time, German circles emphasized what they termed the "rapid advance" of German armored troops in Libya as another indication that Britain's military as well as diplomatic power is on the wane.

All the other patients, with exception of H. A. Little, assistant to the managing editor of the New York Times, whose condition remained critical, were pronounced out of danger and recovering.

A three-way investigation of the crash and its causes was in the hands of four officials of the Civil Aeronautics Board, representatives of Eastern Airlines, and local authorities.

Public hearings will be delayed until next week, when the investigators hoped to receive first hand accounts from survivors. At the same time, it appeared a public senate investigation of the accident will be held in Washington. Opponents of President Roosevelt (Continued on Page Five)

There was no official confirmation. Official German quarters refused to discuss the reports at all.

But seasoned correspondents recalled that the Reich invariably has followed a policy of saying little or nothing about such momentous events until they have occurred.

(Editor's Note: George Rendel, British minister to Sofia, has pointedly warned of "consequences" if Bulgaria joins the axis camp and lays herself open as a potential theatre of war.)

Well-informed quarters in Berlin expressed keen interest in dispatches from Budapest which quoted the authoritative Hungarian newspaper Pester Lloyd as stating Bulgaria would sign a three-point pact at Vienna tomorrow.

From this it was inferred that Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Filoff and Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff planned still another visit to German territory. The last time Filoff left Bulgaria it was said to be for a rest cure. He returned to Sofia only a short time ago.

For Official Reasons

If he is coming to Vienna tomorrow, it was pointed out, it can only be for official reasons.

So far as Bulgarian adherence to the tripartite pact is concerned, or the nature of the three points reported in the Budapest dispatch, German quarters had nothing to say.

But Masunori Oshima, new Japanese ambassador to Germany, is now at Berchtesgaden and is due to visit Vienna tomorrow. Thus the setting is perfect for some new demonstration of axis solidarity.

Even neutral observers in Berlin conceded that Bulgarian adherence to the tri-partite pact at this particular moment of Balkan uneasiness would be a most effective counter-stroke to British diplomatic activities in Turkey.

Efforts of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to line up Turkey on a war basis would be largely nullified, it was said, if Bulgaria openly placed herself on the axis side and granted full co-operation to whatever plans might be put forward by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

At the same time, German circles emphasized what they termed the "rapid advance" of German armored troops in Libya as another indication that Britain's military as well as diplomatic power is on the wane.

WOMEN PICKETS REMOVED FROM SENATOR'S OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Creating an uproar in the senate office building, capitol police today broke up a sit-down strike of mothers opposing President Roosevelt's lease-lend bill in front of the office of Sen. Carter Glass (D) Va.

One woman fainted as the group shoved and pulled against capitol police. The police arrested Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, head of the group, which is known as the Mothers Crusaders against H. R. 1776.

Cafes, Restaurants, Hotels In Hattiesburg Ordered To Clean Up

BLACK LIST THREATENED

Inspectors Say Conditions In Mississippi Center Terrible

Hattiesburg, Miss., city nearest Camp Shelby where nearly all Circleville and Pickaway County National Guardsmen and draftees have been assigned, has been ordered to clean up conditions, or lose the trade of the soldiers.

The decree came following a partial inspection of cafes, restaurants, hamburger stands and hotels by a special investigation board from Camp Shelby, consisting of Lieut.-Col. Leland O. W. Adkins, Jr., Camp Shelby provost marshal, and Lieut. W. A. Oates, military police officer.

The following account of the inspection and orders of the army men was published in a Hattiesburg newspaper:

"Fifth, dirt, horrid odors, rotten food, rats, mice, roaches, cat hair—contamination of all kinds—"

"Such is the condition of Hattiesburg food-handling establishments inspected by a Camp Shelby sanitation board which has halted its investigation until cafes, restaurants, hamburger stands and hotels can begin cleaning up for the soldiers.

"The inspectors pulled no punches; but they pulled out some dishes that had been doused in cold, dirty, soapy water; meat saws and carving knives caked with grease and grime; a bucket of water in which all the kitchen help washed hands, decayed vegetables from ice boxes from which food for customers was being served, visible evidence of the presence of rats and mice, ants, flies and roaches in, on and around food stored or being prepared for customers.

"That is the food situation believed by the inspectors to be pretty general in Hattiesburg today.

"Every inspected establishment was given a copy of the list of deficiencies and delinquencies found there. If they are not corrected immediately that establishment will be barred as far as soldiers are concerned.

"All approved establishments will be given a metal placard which entitles them to do business with soldiers as long as the health standards are observed.

"The board failed to locate even one food-dispensing place it could rank even as 'satisfactory.'

"Here are some of the board's official comments:

"In many cases only a perfunctory effort was made to sterilize dishes and silverware. Some dishwashers admitted that no attempt was made to clean the dishes, except to dip them in dirty, soapy water.

"Some shelves on which dishes were stored were dirty, dusty, covered with grease and infested by roaches and flies.

"Many stoves were filthy, inside and outside. Some of them apparently had never been cleaned since put into use.

"Some stoves were caked with a layer of grease and grease was all over the ventilating hoods and the walls near the stoves.

"In virtually every place the meat saws and carving knives were upholstered in fat, dirt, grease and grime and formed perfect fields for the birth and growth of bacteria.

"One of the worst sources of contamination found were the meat scales, which were so foul that government-inspected meat, once weighed thereon, could only have become infected.

"Many operators declared the ice boxes were cleaned daily. But it was obvious to even a casual observation that some of the boxes

PUPILS QUIZZED CONCERNING FIRE IN CHILLICOTHE

CHILLICOTHE, Feb. 28—Fire Chief Walter Johnson today was investigating a fire that broke out in the West Fifth Street school Thursday afternoon, believing that the blaze was started by school pupils.

The flames were discovered in the interior of a small supply storage closet on the second floor of the building.

School officials expressed belief that the fire had been purposely set. A number of pupils were to be questioned in an effort to develop some clues.

All apparatus of the city's fire department was rushed to the building in the "all out" alarm.

School pupils were removed in orderly fashion prior to the arrival of firemen. Damage was confined to the closet.

had not been cleaned for several weeks. Some of the boxes were covered by dirty clothes and dirty dishes, some contained rotten vegetable matter.

In many places the water used for cleaning dishes was only tepid and at one place all people at work in the kitchen washed their hands in a bucket of water because no running water could be had.

Most of the floors could only be described as filthy.

In virtually every establishment were roaches and flies and in most of them were evidences of rats, mice and other vermin.

Some food-handling places had no toilet facilities for employees. In others the wash basins, toilet bowls and toilet room floors were thick with dirt and grease, were totally without lights, were reeking with foul odors and littered with trash.

POLICE FORCE TO BE BOOSTED

Assembly May Approve Bill To Limit Hours Of Work; Two Men Needed

City councilmen and finance officials who have been working since the first of the year to cut operation costs to meet the slash they made in appropriations for 1941 were watching actions of the Ohio General Assembly Friday on a measure passed by the house Thursday fixing the maximum work week of policemen at 48 hours.

Officials believe that should the measure pass the house it would necessitate the hiring of at least two additional patrolmen to the local force. City officials admit that the force is understaffed at the present time, with only five regular patrolmen and Chief William McCrady in the department, but with city finances in their present condition, they have been reluctant to hire additional men.

City firemen have operated under a state maximum work week of 72 hours for about a year, Council finding it necessary to employ one additional fireman to comply with the state requirement when the law was passed.

Meanwhile the city continues to operate on its depleted general fund. With a $4,000 advance from the county treasurer on its anticipated tax revenue, the city should be able to operate through March and possibly April, City Auditor Lillian Young said Friday.

City police and firemen will be paid Saturday, the city auditor said.

CORONER SEEKS CLUES IN DEATH OF WAITER, 35

Employees of a Scioto Trail supper club, located just north of Chillicothe, were questioned Thursday by Ross County officials who were seeking information concerning the death of James Emmitt Mannon, 35, Chillicothe waiter. Mannon was found dead in the road near the Seven Seas supper club.

It developed that he had spent part of the evening there, had taken several drinks and had become disorderly. He was escorted to the door of the club by waiters who called a taxi. Mannon disappeared before the taxi arrived.

Coroner R. E. Ollier said that Mannon had apparently left the club and started to walk on Route 23 where he was struck by an automobile that failed to stop. A skull fracture caused death.

ALFONSO XIII, FORMER RULER OF SPAIN, DIES

Wife, Five Children At Side As End Comes Following Heart Attacks

LONG CAREER TRACED

Much Shot-At Monarch In Exile In Rome At Time Of Demise

ROME, Feb. 28.—With his wife, ex-Queen Eugenie, and his two daughters and three sons at his bedside, former King Alfonso XIII of Spain died today after a lengthy, critical illness in Rome. The ex-monarch succumbed shortly before noon to the ravages of a serious heart and nervous ailment as a battery of physicians struggled to save his life when the final crisis came.

Alfonso, for whose life his physicians had given up hope some days ago, died reclining in an arm chair in his hotel suite, surrounded by members of his family. His condition had been so serious that his physicians were unable to transfer him to a bed and he had spent the final critical stage of his illness propped up in the chair.

New Attacks Suffered
Oxygen was administered in increasing quantities during the last two days as Alfonso's condition gradually became worse after he had seemed to rally earlier in the week. During the last two days of his life he suffered a new series of heart attacks.

ROME, Feb. 28.—"Royalty," said Alfonso XIII while he still sat on the throne of Spain, "is not a vocation one would choose but a duty that is imposed on one. I have always done my duty, and that is a deep satisfaction for my conscience."

And to the time of his death, he remained a "king and a gentleman" on the throne and in exile. He was born to a throne that was 15 centuries old, and he never forgot it.

On Friday February 14, 1941—an exile in Italy—he renounced his rights to that throne in favor of Prince Juan, his 27-year-old son, according to reports from abroad which said Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany was angry at the choice. Some quarters said this move was made with the sanction of Spain's ruler, Generalissimo Francisco Franco whose cause in the Civil War King Alfonso is said to have backed.

But the right of the Bourbons to the crown he never renounced. In 1931, after a bloodless revolution that swept him from power and provoked a dictatorship under the late Primo de Rivera, he stated clearly and unequivocally that he was suspending the exercise of royal power but that he wasn't giving it up under any circumstances.

Maintained Stubborn Attitude
Alfonso was stubborn that way. It was shown in a hundred little gestures during his life, and he kept the attitude with him to the last. He was a much shot-at bombed-at monarch, but he didn't let it worry him.

When he was married in 1906 to Princess Victoria Eugenie, of Battenburg, daughter of Princess Beatrice, a typical and charming English beauty, somebody tossed a bomb at the royal carriage. Some 23 citizens of Madrid were killed, 99 were injured and the royal couple severely shaken.

Alfonso continued to appear in public, against the advice of his ministers. After the murder of Spanish Premier Canalejas he followed the coffin on foot through a hostile crowd that broke through the police barriers.

Escaped Three Shootings
His dark, asetic face grimly set in almost a half-smile he faced the mob, coolly, almost insolently. In 1913 alone, he was shot at no less than three times but miraculously escaped on every occasion.

He continued to appear in public.

Born on the 17th day of May, 1886—six months after the death of his father, Alfonso XII—he automatically became King of Spain. His mother, Queen Marie Christina, was appointed Regent until Alfonso was 16, when, according to Spanish constitutional law, he came into his full kingship.

But not even the ceremonial and gloomy traditions of his own court—the stiffest in the world—affected the directness and natural gaiety of his temperament.

Subject of Widespread Interest

His charmed life, his glamorous personality, his ready wit, his flashing smile and his constant presence at international sporting events—these remained the "talk of the town" and the unquenchable interest of aristocrat and commoner before and after his fall from power. The presence of "The Duke of Toledo" always was a signal for spontaneous enthusiasm.

His slim, smiling figure was as familiar in Deauville, as in Sebastian, London or Paris. On more than one occasion he left the bacarat tables at Deauville to read dispatches from his commanders in their battles with the Riff in Morocco and even to telegraph them orders.

Once he left the Casino at dawn and drove all day at top speed toward the Spanish frontier to pre-side over a cabinet meeting.

Crisis Led to Downfall

A series of crises in 1931 led to Alfonso's "evacuation" by request. Vigorous demands had been made for constitutional government for Spain.

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Newman Campbell
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 2 is Luke 19:1-20:8, the Golden Text being Luke 6:46, "Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?")

THE EXVENTS which take place in our lesson today happened during the end of March, A. D. 29, while Jesus and his apostles were on their way to Jerusalem from Perea.

When they came to Jericho a crowd was on hand to see this Man of whom the people had heard so much. At Jericho lived a man—a tax collector—named Zacchaeus, who had gained wealth, but was despised by the Jews because he gathered taxes for their enemies and captors, the Romans. Zacchaeus was a small man, and as the crowd pressed around the Master, he could not see what was going on. So he climbed a tree by the roadside to get a view.

When Jesus came by Me looked up in the tree, saw Zacchaeus, and called to him: "Zacchaeus, make haste and come down; for today I must abide at thy house."

You can imagine how overjoyed and honored was Zacchaeus. He hurried down and received the Lord joyfully. Of course there was murmuring in the crowd that the Lord was gone to be the guest of a sinner. But Zacchaeus was not a sinner—not any more. "Behold, Lord," he said, "the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold."

And Jesus answered him: "This day is salvation come to this house, forasmuch as he also is a son of Abraham."

"For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Parable of Nobleman and Servants

Jesus then told the parable of the nobleman who was forced to go on a journey to receive a kingdom. He called his ten servants, gave each one pound and went his way. On his return he asked three of his men for an account. The first said he had invested it and gained ten pounds; the second had five in place of the one. But the third said that his lord was a hard man and he had been afraid to do anything with the money but keep it in a napkin to give back to him. The nobleman was angry with this man and took away the one pound and gave it to the man who had ten, saying that as he had not known how to handle the one pound wisely, he should lose it. The lesson we learn from this parable is that we must use our talents and opportunities, even if they are small or we, too, will lose them.

Now when Jesus arrived at the Mount of Olives from where He could see Jerusalem, He sent two of His disciples into a village and told them where they would find a colt tied. They were to untie the colt and bring him to the Master. If the owner asked them why they were taking it, they were to say, "Because the Lord hath need of him."

Most of us think of Jesus as a Man of mild manner and rather self-effacing. But He must have had great dignity and charm. Mothers felt free to bring their babes to Him, but He was invariably treated respectfully. He had an air of authority. When He gave orders they were obeyed. When the colt or donkey was brought, the disciples put their cloaks on him and seated Jesus on his back. Then they started their journey, with the multitude shouting "hosannas" and laying their garments down in front of the colt.

Pharisees Would Stop Hosannas

There were some Pharisees among the crowd and they asked Jesus to stop the joyous cries of the people. "Master, rebuke your disciples," they said. But Jesus said, "I tell you that, if these should hold their peace, the stones would immediately cry out."

When He saw the city of Jerusalem spread out before Him, however, Jesus wept and mourned that it had not listened to Him, and foretold that the city would be besieged and laid in ruins—which happened 40 years later. The Lord knew too well that this triumphal entry of His into Jerusalem was but an interlude. That it would be but a short time before these same people, so joyously hailing Him as their Saviour, would be shouting "Crucify Him, crucify Him!"

"And He entered into the temple," and there found money changers, people selling various things to the pilgrims and desecrating the holy place. And He turned them out, saying, "It is written, And My house shall be a house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of robbers."

He then taught daily in the temple. The chief priests and scribes and principal men of the people sought to destroy Him, but they did not dare make a move against Him, for the people hung upon His words. Trying to trap Him however, they asked Him, "by what authority doest thou these things?"

He answered them with another question: "The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or of men?" They could not answer Him. If they said from heaven, the Lord would say, "Why, then, believed ye him not?" If they said, of men, the people would stone them because they believed John was a prophet. So they answered that they could not tell whence it was. "Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things," Jesus quietly answered.

The Lord knew that all these men wanted was some excuse to put Him to death. It was useless to talk to men whose hearts were set on murder.

NUMBERS RACKET GETS ATTENTION OF OHIO SOLONS

Heads Of Departments Look Out For Gambling On State Grounds

STARK DEMOCRAT IRKED

Two Highway Bills Voted, Empowering Aid For Isolated Homes

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—Heads of state departments were on the alert today for evidence that the numbers racket is being operated openly in the State House, as charged by Rep. Albert A. Shilling (D-Stark).

Rep. Shilling startled his colleagues in the week's final session yesterday when he charged on the floor of the House that "numbers" are purchased by state employees during working hours, and that "these gambling practices have continued for such a time as to indicate an indulgence or tolerance" on the part of department heads.

In offering his resolution, requesting Governor Bricker to issue an executive order to suppress all forms of gambling on state property, the Stark County representative pointed out that the "continuance of these practices in the very seat of government constitutes an inexcusable poor example for the people of the State of Ohio."

May Build Roads

The resolution came at the end of a brief week end session that witnessed the passage of two highway bills by the House. The measures are designed to empower the state highway department and county commissioners to build and maintain roads connecting private property left isolated by relocations with new highways.

On the Senate, nine recent appointments by Governor Bricker to the board of Miami University were approved. The appointees, who will serve nine-year terms on the board of 27 trustees, are:

Bolton Armstrong, Carl E. Basler, Dwight Hineley and Harold E. Neave of Hamilton County; Carl Austenbork, Shelby County; James Merkle, Franklin County; William Wilson Woods, Miami County; and Carl R. Greer and John G. Welsh, of Butler County.

Miscellaneous legislation enacted by the Senate included a bill to authorize Ohio University trustees to sell two small parcels of land at Athens to the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house corporation, and a measure to provide that appeals from state medical board findings must be filed within 20 days.

To Survey Wire Rates

Sen. Seibert (R-St. Marys) introduced a bill to place rate changes by telegraph companies under jurisdiction of the PUCO in the same manner as railroad rates are adjusted, and Sen. Jones (R-Midport) introduced legislation to fix a limit of 15 percent on cemetery lot sales commissions.

Willis H. Liggitt, Belle Center, Senate postmaster for the last two years, resigned to enter the 107th Cavalry as a second lieutenant, and was escorted to the speaker's dais and given an ovation. Liggitt is the son of Sen. D. A. Liggitt (R-Belle Center).

The House yesterday adopted a resolution of regret at the death of Adjutant General Gilson D. Light, and Speaker McCulloch appointed the Lucas County delegation to represent the law-makers at the funeral at Toledo Saturday.

As a part of the funeral service at the late home of Clarence Squire, Wednesday afternoon, the Scottish Rite ring ceremony was conferred on the deceased's son, Emerson Squire. These rites were pronounced by a Mr. Pace of the Capital City. On Tuesday evening about twenty members of the local Knights of Pythias lodge of which the deceased was a member, held services at the Squire home.

This Friday night the Ashville High basketball team will be in a swift battle over at Atlanta school auditorium against the Pickaway Township laddies. That team already has won a cup and that's enough for any one season. And Saturday night either Deer Creek or New Holland will have to take their defeat. So we've won another cup same as last year, if others work out right.

Auto license plates go on sale here at "Brinks" Saturday evening with "Katy" Bowers first assistant clerk, same as last year. And while we know nothing about it, it's a sure guess that Jose Hedges will make Number One purchase with $151 the numeral figures, same as last year. We'll be telling you about the rush and stand in line stuff, Monday.

Tom Acord's "headquarters shop" yet remains closed after a week of the same kind. Tom, though, is slowly getting better, abed now only part time, according to word direct from the home.

Glenn Malone is still unrepentant on that trip to Washington D. C. which began last Sunday. Glenn is scheduled to give a report of his experiences when he returns.

Charles Owen is the new member of the Junior Class, having moved from the Groveport area to a farm south of Lockbourne. Charles has attended three other schools besides Ashville this school year—Henlock and Shawnee in Perry County and Groveport in Franklin County. He also has a brother, Robert, with him in school here. He is a Sophomore.

A poll was conducted recently to determine the view points of the high school students on several things—be sure to read about them in the school paper, Typewriters which will be out next Friday.

Several students in Typewriting I are making highly satisfactory records in this course. The most successful in speed test work are Erma Bowers, Mary Higley, Ralph Mahaffey, James Valentine, Viola Berger, Dorothy Wellington and Mary Eisman. Jack Foreman and David Marion are leading in project work and Virginia McDowell still holds her record as the most accurate typist.

In Typewriting II George Forquer has attained the greatest speed, having made sixty-five

ORDINANCE NO. 3015

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE CITY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO, TO CONTRACT WITH THE BOARD OF CONTROL OF SAID CITY, TO CONTRACT WITH COLUMBUS AND SOUTHERN OHIO ELECTRIC COMPANY, OF COLUMBUS, OHIO, FOR LIGHTING THE STREETS, ALLEYS, LANES AND PUBLIC PLACES IN THE CITY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO: SECTION 1: That the Director of Public Service of the City of Cincinnati, Ohio, be and is hereby authorized, empowered and directed to enter into a contract with Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, an Ohio Corporation (with its principal office in Columbus, Ohio), for lighting the streets, alleys, lanes and other public places and structures in said City of Cincinnati, Ohio, for a period of 5 years and 6 months.

Said Contract shall be in the following words, to-wit: "The CONTRACT FOR LIGHTING THE STREETS, ALLEYS, LANES AND PUBLIC PLACES IN THE CITY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO."

This Contract made and entered into this 21st day of March, 1941, between the City of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, witnesseth: SECTION 2: That, commencing on the 21st day of March, 1941, and for a period of 5 years and 6 months next ensuing, to-wit: until the 21st day of March, 1947, the said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, its successors and assigns, is hereby vested with the right to, and will by electricity, light the streets, alleys, lanes and public places of the City of Cincinnati, Ohio, with electric lighting units in size and number hereinafter specified. For said service said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, its successors and assigns, shall during the term of this Contract, have the right to charge and receive from said City of Cincinnati, Ohio, and said City of Cincinnati is bound and obligated by this Contract, to pay the said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, its successors and assigns, for said electric lighting service during said period, in accordance with the following schedule of rates:

Rates to be charged for street lighting in the City of Cincinnati, Ohio, from March 21st, 1941, until August 1st, 1947:

100 C. P. Silvery processed, or equivalent, Series Incandescent Lamps @ $22.50 per lamp per annum.

250 C. P. Silvery processed, or equivalent, Series Incandescent Lamps @ $35.75 per lamp per annum.

The foregoing rates are based on the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company owning, maintaining and operating the Series Incandescent street lighting system now installed and in use in the City of Cincinnati, Ohio, together with any additions or extensions of said system which may be made during the term of this contract; lamps to be lighted all night $65.00 each year or approximately 4,000 hours per annum.

SECTION 3: In consideration of the terms and agreements herein contained of the said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, its successors and assigns, and upon its compliance with the premises of this contract by furnishing the service herein specified, the said City of Cincinnati, Ohio, agrees to pay to Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, its successors and assigns, for street lighting service furnished hereunder by said Company, in equal monthly installments in accordance with bills rendered therefor and computed at the foregoing rates, said payments to be made on or before the 10th day of the month next succeeding that in which the bills were furnished.

The said City of Cincinnati agrees that in the event it shall fail to make said monthly payments when due, as provided herein, said deferred payments shall bear interest from date of maturity (to-wit: the 10th day of the month succeeding that in which service was furnished) until paid, and should said City default in making any such payments for a period of four months, then and in that event said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company may at any time thereafter, discontinue said street lighting service without notice, and the full amount due to said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, its successors and assigns, under the terms of this contract has been paid, said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, its successors and assigns, shall resume said street lighting service, provided, however, that no charges shall be made by the said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, any such period in which said service is discontinued as in this Section 3 provided. All lamps shall words per minute on several occasions. George, Ethel Reid and Jane Stevenson have received silver pins, awards for having written fifty words per minute in a regulation speed test. William Darrow and Esther Smith lead at present in work on the projects. Francis Huber, cartoonist and typist, is playing the role of "superman" on the staff of Typewriters. Others in the class contributing to this work are Bill Schlarp, printer and advertiser, Paul Neff, ad-man, Warren Swisher, news collector and sports writer, and Jane Stevenson, typist. All members of the class are helping in one way or another in the production of the paper which is edited, printed and published in Typewriting II.

be maintained in as good condition as practicable.

SECTION C: The minimum number of street lamps hereby contracted for by the said City of Cincinnati shall be not less than fourteen 250 C. P. Silvery processed, or equivalent, Series Incandescent lamps, and one hundred and seventy 100 C. P. Silvery processed, or equivalent, Series Incandescent lamps, and at no time during the term of this contract shall the aggregate nominal C. P. of all the lamps operated and maintained in accordance with the provisions hereof be less than or position of the lamps hereinafter specified.

When additional lamps in new locations are required by the City of Cincinnati, written orders and instructions duly authorized, must be issued therefor and signed by the proper officers of said City of Cincinnati, and if a new location is more than three hundred and fifty (350) feet from the nearest existing lamp or line where a connection may be made, then said City shall pay the total expense incurred by said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company in that part of the extension which exceeds the first three hundred and fifty (350) feet.

SECTION D: Subject to the limitations of Section C of this Contract, the City hereby reserves the right to require said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company to change the style of the electric lights or lamps, the location thereof or the location of position of the wires supplying the same on any street upon the City paying the expense charged by said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company on account of such change or relocation and upon the City paying all additional expense of maintenance incurred by said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company as the result of any such change or relocation.

SECTION E: The Company shall change the size of any light upon order of the City during the term of this contract without extra charge for changing, provided that such change does not reduce the total of the nominal candle power of all lamps to a less amount than that of the minimum number of lamps herein contracted for. Subject to the limitations of Section C and Section D hereof, the Company shall install additional lights or change locations of lights as directed by the City within thirty (30) days after receiving from the City written orders covering said additions or change of location.

SECTION F: The said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company shall furnish sufficient electric energy to keep said lamps burning continuously during the night season each and every night during the term of years and months hereinafter mentioned, but if for any reason it shall become necessary to discontinue said electric energy for more than an aggregate of four (4) days in any one month, and upon written notice of such aggregate outage furnished to the City within ten (10) days after receipt of bill there shall be a pro rata reduction from the bill for said month to cover such outage; provided, however, that no liability shall attach to the said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company during the period of any discontinuance of service under any of the provisions of Section F of this contract.

SECTION G: The said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company shall not be required to make any extensions or renewals in the event that said City of Cincinnati is in arrears in payments for service rendered, nor shall said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company be required to make any extensions during the last year in which this contract is in effect.

SECTION H: The said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company shall save the City of Cincinnati, Ohio, harmless from any and all liability occasioned by carelessness or negligence on the part of said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company in the construction, maintenance and operation of said street lighting system in said City.

SECTION I: All the rights and privileges granted to and obligations imposed upon, the said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company as recited in this contract shall respectively inure to the benefit of and be binding upon its successors and assigns.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company has caused its corporate name to be signed hereto by its Vice President and its corporate seal to be hereto affixed, attested by its Secretary and said City of Cincinnati has caused this contract to be executed by its Director of Public Service for and on behalf of said City of Cincinnati, Ohio, all of which is done this... day of... 1941.

Billions Of Dollars Worth Of Orders Halted During Labor Difficulties

Milwaukee was still deadlocked in its 38th day as both union and company negotiators looked to the office of production management in Washington to produce an acceptable compromise agreement. The CIO demand for "union security" has tied up more than $40,000,000 in defense orders and made 9,000 workers idle.

Hillman To Confer
Sidney Hillman, associate director of the OPM, was scheduled to confer today with R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers Union, and Richard Frankenstein, organizer, in an effort to settle the Allis-Chalmers strike. In Washington, Hillman was quoted as saying that he hoped to make an "important announcement" during the day regarding the strike.

Meanwhile, federal labor conciliators were reported in Detroit where the UAW has filed a formal notice that it plans to call a strike against the Ford Motor Company. The Michigan State Labor Mediation Board also was reported ready to step in to aid in settling the dispute.

The promised intervention of federal conciliators led to a delay of the scheduled strike in the International Harvester McCormick works. Three other Harvester plants, holding $10,000,000 in defense orders, are strike-bound. Eight thousand workers are idle at the tractor works in Chicago, and at the Rock Falls, Ill., and Richmond, Ind., plants.

At Indiana Harbor, Ind., and Gary, Ind., the plants of the Carnegie-Illinois, Inland Steel, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube, were in operation but a general slowing down in production was reported. SWOC pickets, outside the plants, were engaged in a "union roundup" to strengthen union ranks. The "roundup" consisted of stopping men entering the plants unless their dues were paid up or, in the case of non-members, inviting them to join the union.

Three rural youths, one nineteen and the other two eighteen years old, were in County Jail Friday on charges of stealing livestock from two Pickaway County farmers. The boys are James Garvey, 19, Wayne Township; Arthur Schaeffer, 18, Muhlenberg Township, and Harvey Winn, 18, Jackson Township.

At the sheriff's office Thursday, all three youths admitted taking four sheep from the barn of C. B. Wise, Washington Township, two on the night of February 19 and two on February 21, and of recently taking two sheep from A. W. Bosworth's farm in Washington Township.

The youths told Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Bryan Custer that they had sold the sheep to two different Columbus firms and had divided the proceeds among them.

Besides being implicated in the sheep thefts, Winn confessed taking chickens from J. H. Welch, Jackson Township, and of draining 25 gallons of gasoline from a tank on the Bosworth property.

The youths are expected to have their hearing some time Friday afternoon.

velt's transfer of the Civil Aeronautics Authority to the Department of Commerce held that the crash, and other recent airline crashes, were the result of that transfer of authority regulating commercial flying.

Senator Pat McCarran (D) of Nevada made the direct charge that yesterday's crash was a result of the transfer, asserting it was "legalized murder."

Opinions Withheld
Investigators in Atlanta, meantime, were not prepared to express opinions regarding cause of the mishap. Two theories were advanced unofficially, however. One was that the airliner had motor trouble, and the other was that its altimeters were not working. Neither theory received official authentication.

The ship, flying from New York to Atlanta with 13 passengers and a crew of three, was scheduled to reach Atlanta at 11:55 p. m. Wednesday. Eleven minutes earlier, the pilot, Capt. James A. Perry, radioed that he was on the Atlanta radio beam and coming in to land. That was the last heard from the giant luxury sleeper plane.

After an all-night search, it was found wrecked in a stand of Georgia pine, some five miles southeast of the airport. The wing was torn off and the plane ripped through trees about a small knoll for almost 200 yards.

N. V. Hansell of the Bronx, N. Y., and J. S. Rosenfeld of New Orleans, the least injured passengers, were able, shortly before dawn, to make their way to nearby farm houses and from there telephone reports of the wreck.

Killed in the crash were the crew, Capt. Perry, Co-Pilot L. E. Thomas, and Steward Clarence Moore, all of New York, and the following passengers:

Rep. William D. Byron (D) of Williamsport, Md.; B. C. M. Van Der Hoop, of Scarsdale, N. Y., vice president of the Tin Processing Corp.; Juan Maria of El Salvador, San Salvador; A. Liebowitz of Atlanta.

GOVERNOR REJECTS PLEA TO ALTER VOTE DECREE

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—Gov. John W. Bricker today refused the request of John E. Sweeney, Democratic secretary of state, to intervene in a Scioto County election contest in which the House of Representatives decided to seat a Republican who admittedly received fewer votes than his Democratic opponent.

Sweeney addressed a strong letter of protest to the governor, stressing that he had today received a corrective abstract on the November legislative election in Scioto County, showing that a "grave injustice" had been done by the General Assembly in seating Orin L. Graves, Portsmouth Republican, instead of Miss Gladys E. Davis, Democrat, of New Boston, who received a plurality of 88 votes.

BRICKER SIGNS AID BILL

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—Governor Bricker today signed the bill appropriating $2,210,000 to local subdivisions, bringing the state's share of 1940 relief expenditures to a full 50 percent. Passed as an emergency measure, the bill goes into effect immediately.

In the interest of a better appreciation of the importance of Public Notices, The Daily Herald will present a series of brief weekly articles explaining their purpose and application. The first will appear Monday, March 3.

In one form or another Public Notices have been relied on for centuries to give warning and to safeguard rights, both public and private. Many actions would be incomplete, irregular or even illegal without proper notice being given.

The Ohio law provides for more than 200 kinds of Public Notices. This is done in the public interest. In carrying such Notices in every issue, The Daily Herald, like other newspapers of general circulation, is rendering a public service.

Milwaukee was still deadlocked in its 39th day as both union and company negotiators looked to the office of production management in Washington to produce an acceptable compromise agreement. The CIO demand for "union security" has tied up more than $40,000,000 in defense orders and made 9,000 workers idle.

Hillman To Confer

Sidney Hillman, associate director of the OPM, was scheduled to confer today with R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers Union, and Richard Frankenstein, organizer, in an effort to settle the Allis-Chalmers strike. In Washington, Hillman was quoted as saying that he hoped to make an "important announcement" during the day regarding the strike.

Meanwhile, federal labor conciliators were reported in Detroit where the UAW has filed a formal notice that it plans to call a strike against the Ford Motor Company. The Michigan State Labor Mediation Board also was reported ready to step in to aid in settling the dispute.

The promised intervention of federal conciliators led to a delay of the scheduled strike at the International Harvester McCormick works. Three other Harvester plants, holding $10,000,000 in defense orders, are strike-bound. Eight thousand workers are idle at the tractor works in Chicago, and at the Rock Falls, Ill., and Richmond, Ind., plants.

At Indiana Harbor, Ind., and Gary, Ind., the plants of the Carnegie-Illinois, Inland Steel, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube, were in operation but a general slowing down in production was reported. SWOC pickets, outside the plants, were engaged in a "union roundup" to strengthen union ranks. The "roundup" consisted of stopping men entering the plants unless their dues were paid up or, in the case of non-members, inviting them to join the union.

THREE CONFESS STEALING SHEEP, SELLING THEM

Three rural youths, one nineteen and the other two eighteen years old, were in County Jail Friday on charges of stealing livestock from two Pickaway County farmers. The boys are James Garvey, 19, Wayne Township; Arthur Schaeffer, 18, Mulhern Township, and Harvey Winn, 18, Jackson Township.

At the sheriff's office Thursday, all three youths admitted taking four sheep from the farm of C. B. Wise, Washington Township, two on the night of February 19 and two on February 21, and of recently taking two sheep from A. W. Bosworth's farm in Washington Township.

The youths told Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Bryan Custer that they had sold the sheep to two different Columbus firms and had divided the proceeds among them.

Besides being implicated in the sheep thefts, Winn confessed taking chickens from J. H. Welch, Jackson Township, and of draining 25 gallon of gasoline from a tank on the Bosworth property.

The youths are expected to have their hearing some time Friday afternoon.

MRS. JOSEPH HICKEY DIES FOLLOWING HEART ATTACK

Mrs. Frances Ellen Hickey, 87, wife of Joseph Hickey, died Thursday at 10:45 p. m. after a heart attack at her home, 626 Maplewood Avenue. Mrs. Hickey, a native of Ashland, Ky., was married in Circleville August 11, 1883. Her husband is her only survivor.

The funeral will be Monday at 10:30 a. m. at the Rinehart Funeral Home, the Rev. O. L. Ferguson officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery. Friends may call at the home after 6 p. m. Saturday.

velt's transfer of the Civil Aeronautics Authority to the Department of Commerce held that the crash, and other recent airline crashes, were the result of that transfer of authority regulating commercial flying.

Senator Pat McCarran (D) of Nevada made the direct charge that yesterday's crash was a result of the transfer, asserting it was "legalized murder."

Opinions Withheld

Investigators in Atlanta, meantime, were not prepared to express opinions regarding cause of the mishap. Two theories were advanced unofficially, however. One was that the airliner had motor trouble, and the other was that its altimeters were not working. Neither theory received official authentication.

The ship, flying from New York to Atlanta with 13 passengers and a crew of three, was scheduled to reach Atlanta at 11:55 p. m. Wednesday. Eleven minutes earlier, the pilot, Capt. James A. Perry, radioed that he was on the Atlanta radio beam and coming in to land. That was the last heard from the giant luxury sleeper plane.

After an all-night search, it was found wrecked in a stand, of Georgia pine, some five miles southeast of the airport. The wing was torn off and the plane ripped through trees atop a small knoll for almost 200 yards.

N. V. Hansell of the Bronx, N. Y., and J. S. Rosenfeld of New Orleans, the least injured passengers, were able, shortly before dawn, to make their way to nearby farm houses and from there telephone reports of the wreck.

Killed in the crash were the crew, Capt. Perry, Co-Pilot L. E. Thomas, and Steward Clarence Moore, all of New York, and the following passengers:

Rep. William D. Byron (D) of Williamsport, Md.; B. C. M. Van Der Hoop, of Scarsdale, N. Y., vice president of the Tin Processing Corp.; Juan Maria of El Salvador, San Salvador; A. Liebowitz of Atlanta.

After the crash, it was found that the plane had been through times atop a small knoll for almost 200 yards.

OPEN LETTERS

TO MOTORISTS

ALL: Speed traps are not pleasant things, and automobile operators in Circleville and Pickaway County have had plenty of opportunity to take note of this fact in the last year or so. One has been operating in the Shadeville-South Columbus district for longer than many like to remember. Others have been reported between Circleville and Columbus in Pickaway County townships, but these have not been quite so unfair as has the one near Shadeville. Now, another one bobs up to harass the motorist. That one is reported on the busy CCC highway that connects Cincinnati and Columbus, and other points. Many autoists from Washington C. H. go over the CCC highway into Columbus, and they are the ones objecting mostly to what they claim is a trap in the Era-Derby district of Pickaway County. The trap extends as far as Harrisburg, they claim, with motorists being ordered into a Darby Township court. Constables are operating in an automobile and on a motorcycle, Washington C. H. folk charge. One Fayette County man, who was driving his truck in second gear, was hauled before a squire and fined $10, he charged. Numerous protests have been sent from the Fayette city to Colonel Lynn Black, chief of the state highway patrol, concerning the Pickaway County trap. Efforts will be made to halt activities of the constables, if it can be proved that they are operating traps. In the meantime motorists should exercise care.

TO SOCIAL WORKERS

FRIENDS: Circleville is engaged now in carrying on two programs, both of which are important in the welfare task for which they are organized. One is the Bundles for Britain unit, in operation now for several weeks, and the other is the American Red Cross chapter, which expects momentarily to start doing its share to help sufferers in war-stricken nations. Each organization has its tasks to perform, and the caliber of leadership in each indicates that activities locally will be well handled. Both undertakings are splendid ones, because humanitarian goals are the objectives. Each is trying to help persons in other parts of our World who are suffering because a couple of mad dogs are loose in Europe. At the same time, local relief organizations must continue their work. WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

THE MORE polite the Japanese are, the more suspicious of 'em are all Occidentals of experience with Jap psychology.

And, as remarked the other day, the Tokyo government of late has become extremely polite indeed in its diplomatic relationship with Washington. On the strength of this development, Washington has warned Americans in the Far East to get out of that part of the world as fast as possible unless they have the most urgent reasons for remaining there. Our naval personnel, marine and ambassadorial and consular staffs do have urgent reasons for staying on their jobs, but members of their families are being brought home as fast as ships are available to carry them. Tokyo has turned abnormally polite to the British also. Consequently Australia's and New Zealand's governments have advised their folk to be prepared for almost anything unpleasant on the shortest kind of notice.

There's nothing inconsistent about it. The Japs notoriously want to gobble up all of Britain's and France's southern Asiatic mainland footholds and the Dutch East Indies. With the home Netherlands completely under Hitler's thumb, France flits on its back and England fully preoccupied in its own immediate vicinity, now evidently seems to 'em to be an ideal time to do their gobbling.

FAITS ACCOMPLI

If they can, however, they naturally would like to do it in comparative peace and comfort, for themselves. They're anxious not to antagonize the United States if they can avoid doing so. That is, they're anxious not to do so until their grabs, above mentioned, are what diplomats call "faits accomplis"—accomplished facts, in plain English. Later, after the facts really are accomplished, they probably won't care so much. But while they're doing the accomplishing, they greatly prefer not to have their attention distracted from the job, as it certainly would be if they got into war with us prematurely.

Germany, to be sure, wants Japan to become involved with us today or tomorrow or the next day, at the latest, since it couldn't but hamper us in helping Britain. The Japs, though, think of their own interest ahead of their Axis partners', and their game's to stave off a clash with Uncle Sam for the present. That's why they're so polite to him. They've hoped he'd be sucker enough to take their affability at face value. Apparently he isn't, to judge from our warning to our nationals in the Orient.

It's taken for granted that the Japs have his eye on the Philippines, but the best guessing is us, and will continue to have, and they must be cared for. However, I believe that there are sufficient surpluses in this land of ours to care for our own, and to help relieve the crisis faced by hundreds of thousands of innocent persons abroad who do not know from one day to the next whether they will have a roof over their heads, or whether they will be among the survivors when daylight breaks through the next morning.

TO EVERYONE

FOLK: With the opening of the Lenten season many churches throughout the community are beginning special services. It is fitting that such programs be held; it also is fitting that those of you who are church members should attend whenever possible, but more important is the amount of thought you give to Christian religion and its value to our community. Probably at no other time in America's history are its doctrines more significant, made so not by their plausibility to our line of thinking, but by their practical application to our mode of life and their ability to stand "under fire" when other beliefs have led nations into aggressive war. The problem for American churches, therefore, is not one of saving democracy that Christianity might live, but one of saving Christianity that we might retain democracy.

TO SPORTS FOLLOWERS

MEN, WOMEN: Tonight and Saturday night bring the final games of the annual Pickaway County basketball tournament, and hundreds of fans from every part of the county will be journeying to the Atlanta school to try to find points of vantage from which to witness the encounters. The tournament this year promises to go into the record books as one of the best conducted in many seasons; its management has been excellent, and the sportsmanship shown by all concerned has been above reproach. I hope that the last two sessions are equally successful, and that the best team wins. Many persons who will be going to Atlanta tonight and Saturday night may be traveling over highways that have been made slippery in the last 36 hours. I urge all who drive automobiles to be very careful during their trips no matter how short the mileage may be. Leave a little earlier than usual, and take much more care than usual if you want to enjoy the last two sessions of the tournament.

TO THE DRAFTEES

SIRS: Those of you with low order numbers and no dependents have no doubt known for some time that sooner or later you would be called to serve a year under the Selective Service Act. Those of you who have followed the actions of the draft board have realized that volunteers could not continue to fill the oncoming quotas for the county. The first of you will go March 7; more will follow in the March 18 contingent. You need not consider yourselves unfortunate in being called into service. True, for some of you it will mean giving up successful employment in private industry, but there are thousands of others like you in America. The price of a year's services in America's peacetime army now may be far less dear than a life given later.

DIET AND HEALTH

The Habit of Medical Dosing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● The intestine is a muscular tube and it is subject to many nervous impulses. These impulses affect the muscular coat, throwing it into spasm. The condition is known as "spastic colitis" or, commonly "colitis." It is not considered as a disease and the exact underlying cause is not easily found, but in one form or another it is the commonest condition the physician

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

meets in his consultation room. It mocks many other conditions and is called appendicitis, gallstones, cholecystitis, subacute appendicitis, ulcers of the stomach, and even cancer. And because of the many operations performed on these patients, it has an importance out of all proportion to its actual danger.

The causes have been divided into local and general. The prolonged use of cathartics is undoubtedly a factor.

It is very difficult to get these cathartic habit people to stop the habit. They are very reasonable about it, and agree with you that it is a bad thing but when evening comes and that feeling of heaviness is there, nothing seems to be able to keep them from going to the pill box. If you do, however, manage to get them off the habit, they are the happiest people in the world.

Another cause that has been suggested is allergy. It is supposed the spasm is due to hypersensitivity to a certain food and that eating this food causes the spasm. It is often a very common food that is at fault. This is all the more puzzling because if you have cramps every time you have broccoli, you are likely to connect the two foods, but you are likely to eat some form of wheat or eggs every day so your discomfort is continuous and the connection is hard to find.

Colitis

Various kinds of vitamins have been used in colitis, as they have in nearly every other ailment and extracts of the ductless glands also, such as theelin or estrone, with somewhat more success. The most important elements in treatment are the reeducation of the patient and it is, like all education, a very painful process. The patients with colitis are perfectly willing to submit to doing everything that is bad for them. They are willing, indeed they insist on cathartics and enemas. Dr. O. S. Jones, of St. Louis, is very graphic on this point. He admits complete failure to reeducate his patients in normal habits. They "insist on a complete evacuation every day if it takes castor oil to do it. Mere castor oil and agar are not enough; some have been taking an enema every day for years. Others have been taking a laxative every other day or every day for forty years."

Diet is a logical form of treatment. If the colon can be irritated by irritating food, it seems logical to eliminate the food from the diet—beans, cabbage, onions, garlic, sauerkraut, lunch meat (very indigestible), chili, pepper, excessive amounts of fat, and sweets.

By all odds the greatest service the physician can do the patient with colitis is to prevent a surgical operation. Dr. Alvarez of the Mayo Clinic has the final statistics on this point: all these people think they ought to have the appendix out. Dr. Alvarez found that of 255 such patients only 1 per cent was relieved of symptoms.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

O. B.:—"How many hours' sleep does a person thirty years old need? Is five or six hours enough? People I know say 'yes' but I find I need eight or nine hours."

Answer—Five or six hours' sleep in twenty-four is sufficient for anybody over the age of 30. Most sleeping troubles are not due to lack of sleep but what you think about the amount of sleep you have had. If you think five or six hours rests you, then it is enough. If you get to worrying about whether it has rested you or not, it is insufficient. However, you better not monkey with sleep. If you can get eight or nine hours of sleep do so, and let the rest of the world go by.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

"WHERE DID you two meet each other?" Eve's mother asked.

"Up in the hills," said Bill.

"But I didn't know there were any authors around this part of the country."

Before Bill could reply to that, Eve spoke.

"Mr. Latham and his cousin, Mr. Randall, are living in that old cabin on Singer's Dome," she said.

"You mean the one that's been vacant so long?"

"Yes, Mother—that one."

"We're sort of hibernating," said Bill.

Eve looked at him and smiled.

"Yes, Mr. Latham wanted to get away from—from things," she said.

"He and his cousin are ever so cozy up there in the cabin."

"Mighty cozy," said Bill. "But we get rather lonely at times. We were mighty glad to have a caller today."

"You mean you called upon the gentlemen?" said Mrs. Allgood.

"I practically landed on their doorstep," said Eve. "That's how I got this limp." Then she told her mother about the accident. "And," she climaxed, "Mr. Latham kindly offered to drive me home, since my ankle felt a bit wobbly."

"But how's he going to get back?"

"In the car he came in. Mine's still up there in his collar patch. We'll have our own old bus back tomorrow as good as new."

Mrs. Allgood breathed a deep sigh of relief.

"Thank heavens, you didn't drive off a cliff or something," she said.

She turned to Bill. "Every time Eve goes driving off into the mountains I have visions of her ending up in a wreck."

"Listen, darling," Eve said, "I know these mountain roads like a book."

"Maybe so," her mother retorted, "but that didn't keep you from landing in a vegetable garden."

Eve laughed. "You have me there, all right!"

"You'll stay to supper, won't you, Mr. Latham?" Mrs. Allgood said.

"It'll be ready very shortly."

"Thanks!" said Bill. "I'd love to, but—"

"But he'll have to hurry back to his cousin," said Eve. "They are very devoted—those two—and Joel Randall will be worried if Mr. Latham isn't back soon."

"That's too bad," said Mrs. Allgood.

"Yes," said Bill, "it certainly is."

"But you must come down again soon—both of you," Mrs. Allgood invited. "I'm awfully grateful to you for being so kind to my daughter."

It was when Bill was about to drive off that he said to Eve:

"I would have stayed gladly, you know."

"Yes, I know," said Eve. "But I think it's time you thought about Joel a bit."

"You still think I'm a problem child, I gather."

"A problem to Joel—yes."

"Gosh, how you do worry about Joel!" Bill searched Eve's face. "Don't get too much interested in my cousin to give me a bit of attention."

"That would be a novelty, wouldn't it?" Eve retorted. "But never mind, I still want to help you."

"Good!" said Bill. "I shall hold you to that."

He waved his hand and was off. Eve went back around the house to join her mother. She knew that Mrs. Allgood would be wanting to hear all the details of her accidental meeting with Joel Randall and Bill Latham. And as she reached the rear porch she found herself thinking how easy it would be for a girl to be attracted to either of the young men—even to both of them. That is, if a girl were interested in men that way.

She wasn't.

Her mother was in the kitchen. "Such a nice young man," she said as Eve entered.

"Yes, isn't he?" Eve agreed.

"And so's his cousin."

Joel awoke early the next morning. Early waking was a habit with him. He had been doing it ever since he could remember. He glanced over at Bill's bunk. Bill was sleeping soundly, his face to the wall, one hand pushed up under the rump and mis-shaped pillow.

Bill always slept late. It had been like that when they were small boys. Joel up early with his uncle, helping with the chores, while Bill slept on and on. He was never wide awake until nearly noon.

Softly, silently Joel now got out of his own bunk.

He dressed himself and went quietly into the kitchen. There he prepared his breakfast, occasionally hearing the sound of his cousin's snoring. He ate toast and drank coffee, thinking—thinking—thinking.

"Boy, she's the perfect heroine!" Bill had said the evening before. "Will I write a story now that will prove to my readers that I don't have to confine myself to Park Avenue and Palm Beach?"

"In other words," Joel remembered saying, "Eve's a guinea pig so far as you're concerned."

"And why not?" Bill retorted. "You wouldn't expect me to go into rhapsodies over a girl because she's a girl, would you?"

"I wouldn't for her."

You've always been a bit screwy where femininity is concerned," had been Joel's reply.

"Well, believe it or not, my dear Joel," said Bill, "my interest in femininity is purely academic from now on."

"Now that is a laugh!"

"Go ahead, laugh your fool head off!" Bill had then eyed him closely. "It's easy to see your interest in our little Eve is anything but academic. Darned if I don't believe you've fallen for her."

Joel had made no reply to this.

He did like Eve. There was something about her, something he couldn't define, that made her stand out from other girls. But maybe it was because of her more or less dramatic entrance into his life—because she had looked so helpless and lovely sitting upon the running board of her car. Maybe it was because he was always letting his protective instincts get the better of him.

But thoughts of her car reminded him that it had to be gotten out of his vegetable garden. He finished his coffee and hurried out the back door.

It was much later when Bill opened his eyes. The morning sunshine was streaming in through the windows which he had washed so carefully a few days before. He yawned, stretched, and swung his feet to the floor. It was when he was pushing his fingers through his disheveled hair that he saw the piece of paper propped upon the mantle.

TO MOTORISTS

ALL: Speed traps are not pleasant things, and automobile operators in Circleville and Pickaway County have had plenty of opportunity to take note of this fact in the last year or so. One has been operating in the Shadeville-South Columbus district for longer than many like to remember. Others have been reported between Circleville and Columbus in Pickaway County townships, but these have not been quite so unfair as has the one near Shadeville. Now, another one bobs up to harass the motorist. That one is reported on the busy CCC highway that connects Cincinnati and Columbus, and other points. Many autoists from Washington C. H. go over the CCC highway into Columbus, and they are the ones objecting mostly to what they claim is a trap in the Era-Derby district of Pickaway County. The trap extends as far as Harrisburg, they claim, with motorists being ordered into a Darby Township court. Constables are operating in an automobile and on a motorcycle, Washington C. H. folk charge. One Fayette County man, who was driving his truck in second gear, was hauled before a squire and fined $10, he charged. Numerous protests have been sent from the Fayette city to Colonel Lynn Black, chief of the state highway patrol, concerning the Pickaway County trap. Efforts will be made to halt activities of the constables, if it can be proved that they are operating traps. In the meantime motorists should exercise care.

One is the Bundles for Britain unit, in operation now for several weeks, and the other is the American Red Cross chapter, which expects momentarily to start doing its share to help sufferers in war-stricken nations. Each organization has its tasks to perform, and the caliber of leadership in each indicates that activities locally will be well handled. Both undertakings are splendid ones, because humanitarian goals are the objectives. Each is trying to help persons in other parts of our World who are suffering because a couple of mad dogs are loose in Europe. At the same time, local relief organizations must continue their work. WORLD AT A GLANCE

THE MORE polite the Japanese are, the more suspicious of 'em are all Occidentals of experience with Jap psychology.

And, as remarked the other day, the Tokyo government of late has become extremely polite indeed in its diplomatic relationship with Washington. On the strength of this development, Washington has warned Americans in the Far East to get out of that part of the world as fast as possible unless they have the most urgent reasons for remaining there. Our naval personnel, marine and ambassadorial and consular staffs do have urgent reasons for staying on their jobs, but members of their families are being brought home as fast as ships are available to carry them. Tokyo has turned abnormally polite to the British also. Consequently Australia's and New Zealand's governments have advised their folk to be prepared for almost anything unpleasant on the shortest kind of notice.

There's nothing inconsistent about it.

The Japs notoriously want to gobble up all of Britain's and France's southern Asiatic mainland footholds and the Dutch East Indies. With the home Netherlands completely under Hitler's thumb, France flat on its back and England fully preoccupied in its own immediate vicinity, now evidently seems to 'em to be an ideal time to do their gobbling.

FAITS ACCOMPLI

If they can, however, they naturally would like to do it in comparative peace and comfort, for themselves. They're anxious not to antagonize the United States if they can avoid doing so. That is, they're anxious not to do so until their grabs, above mentioned, are what diplomats call "faits accomplis"—accomplished facts, in plain English. Later, after the facts really are accomplished, they probably won't care so much. But while they're doing the accomplishing, they greatly prefer not to have their attention distracted from the job, as it certainly would be if they got into war with us prematurely.

Germany, to be sure, wants Japan to become involved with us today or tomorrow or the next day, at the latest, since it couldn't hamper us in helping Britain. The Japs, though, think of their own interest ahead of their Axis partners', and their game's to stave off a clash with Uncle Sam until they're so polite to him. They've hoped he'd be sucker enough to take their affability at face value. Apparently he isn't, to judge from our warning to our nationals in the Orient.

It's taken for granted that the Japs have his eye on the Philippines, but the best guessing is that he won't try to swoop down there while they're under our flag—not unless a Jap-American war starts before the date for their independence, four years hence. Then it's considered very likely that he will. A good many Filipinos think so and don't want to be independent on that basis.

Well, why's Tokyo polite to Britain?

The fact is that it isn't particularly polite to London. As an Axis partner, it can't but be considered at war with the English islanders. It serves the Mikado's purpose, however, to be as polite as circumstances permit to Australia and New Zealand.

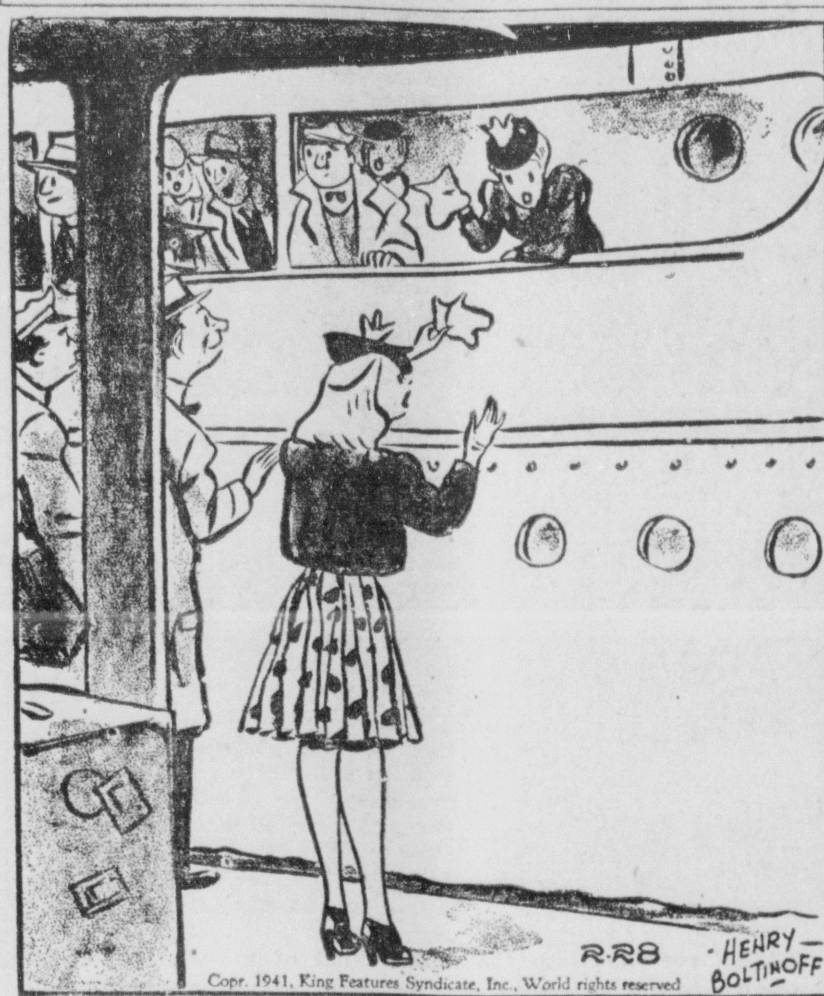

His grab program, it generally is agreed, includes these two dominions, in the long run. It includes India likewise. Jap statesmen have said so.

DISTANT OBJECTIVES

But Australia, New Zealand and India are rather distant objectives. And, as to Australia and New Zealand (India should be easy picking if Britain blows up, and the United States can be staved off), those two might be rather bothersome to Nippon, if ugly before it gets fully around to attend to 'em. Therefore, Tokyo's polite to 'em and it scares 'em like everything. They are in Japan's pretty near neighborhood and quite understand what Japanese politeness signifies.

So do the Filipinos.

"That would be a novelty, wouldn't it?" Eve retorted. "But never mind, I still want to help you."

"Good!" said Bill. "I shall hold you to that."

He waved his hand and was off. Eve went back around the house to join her mother. She knew that Mrs. Allgood would be wanting to hear all the details of her accidental meeting with Joel Randall and Bill Latham. And as she reached the rear porch she found herself thinking how easy it would be for a girl to be attracted to either of the young men—even to fall in love with one of them, or both of them. That is, if a girl were interested in men that way.

She wasn't.

Her mother was in the kitchen. "Such a nice young man," she said as Eve entered.

"Yes, isn't he?" Eve agreed.

"And so's his cousin."

Joel awoke early the next morning. Early waking was a habit with him. He had been doing it ever since he could remember. He glanced over at Bill's bunk. Bill was sleeping soundly, his face to the wall, one hand pushed up under the rumpled and mis-shapen pillow. Bill always slept late. It had been like that when they were small boys, Joel up early with his uncle, helping with the chores, while Bill slept on and on. He was never wide awake until nearly noon.

Softly, silently Joel now got out of his own bunk.

He dressed himself and went quietly into the kitchen. There he prepared his breakfast, occasionally hearing the sound of his cousin's snoring. He ate toast and drank coffee, thinking—thinking—thinking.

"Boy, she's the perfect heroine!" Bill had said the evening before.

"Will I write a story now that will prove to my readers that I don't have to confine myself to Park Avenue and Palm Beach?"

"In other words," Joel remembered saying, "Eve's a guinea pig, so far as you're concerned."

"And why not?" Bill retorted. "You wouldn't expect me to go into rhapsodies over a girl because she's a girl, would you?"

"I wouldn't really know. . . . You've always been a bit screwy where femininity is concerned," had been Bill's reply.

"Well, believe it or not, my dear Joel," said Bill, "my interest in femininity is purely academic from now on."

"Now that is a laugh!"

"Go ahead, laugh your fool head off!" Bill had then eyed her closely. "It's easy to see your interest in our little Eve is anything but academic. Darned if I don't believe you've fallen for her."

Joel had made no reply to this.

He did like Eve. There was something about her, something he couldn't define, that made her stand out from other girls. But maybe it was because of her more or less dramatic entrance into his life—because she had looked so helpless and lovely sitting upon the running board of her car. Maybe it was because he was always letting his protective instincts get the better of him.

But thoughts of her car reminded him that it had to be gotten out of his vegetable garden. He finished his coffee and hurried out the back door.

It was much later when Bill opened his eyes. The morning sunshine was streaming in through the windows which he had washed so carefully a few days before. He yawned, stretched, and swung his feet to the floor. It was when he was pushing his fingers through his disheveled hair that he saw the piece of paper propped upon the mantle.

Words of Wisdom

The poet's eye, in a fine frenzy rolling, doth glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven; and as imagination bodies forth the forms of things unknown, the poet's pen turns them to shape, and gives to airy nothing a local habitation and a name; such tricks hath strong imagination. — Shakespeare.

Hints on Etiquette

As a general rule, when a couple is ascending or descending stairs, the woman precedes the man. If it is dark, or there is danger of stumbling, however, the man may go first.

Today's Horoscope

The persons who are celebrating a birthday today are warned to guard against accidents and hasty, impulsive action. If they heed the warning, the year promises to be a happy and successful one. They should watch expenditures. The child who is born on this date will be quick, alert, ambitious, good-natured, but somewhat impetuous and high-tempered when aroused. Much good fortune is presaged, but some love or domestic trouble is foreseen.

D. U. V.'s Washington Tea Party Colorful Function

Colonial Dress
Featured By Hostesses

A colorful Washington Tea was arranged Thursday at the home of Mrs. Noah G. Spangler, West High Street, members of the Daughters of Union Veterans who served as hostesses appearing in colonial dress. Miss Evelyn Pierce and Mrs. George Hammel as George and Martha Washington were escorted to places of honor by Nancy Ann Spangler of Columbus, great-granddaughter of the hostesses.

Thirty-seven guests called during the evening and enjoyed the program arranged by Mrs. Hattie Pickens, patriotic instructor, who read "The Life of Washington" for the opening number. Miss Pierce sang "The Toast" which was dedicated to Washington in 1799. Readings pertaining to Washington's life were presented by Mrs. E. L. Price, Mrs. E. S. Neuding and Miss Nellie Palm.

Mrs. James Pierce, pianist of the organization, played "Successful Campaign" and two minuets which were played before George and Mrs. Washington in 1792. A round table discussion of interesting events in Washington's life concluded the planned entertainment. Mrs. Lulu Crayne and Mrs. Irene Newton won prizes in the games.

"The Star-Spangled Banner" by the group closed the evening. Flags and lovely bouquets of flowers in addition to many potted plants made the colorful setting for the outstanding social event. The guests gathered in the dining room for a social half-hour, cherry tarts being included in the appropriate refreshments.

Tall red, white and blue tapers and red and white carnations were the colorful decorations of the tea table which was centered with an arrangement of small silk flags. Little Miss Spangler pleased the group with her solo, "God Bless America" after which the members participated in the Salute to the Flag.

Those assisting Mrs. Spangler were Mrs. Charles Stoffer, Miss Anna Kirkwood, Mrs. W. B. Cady, Mrs. Eleanor W. Bissell and Miss Daisy Murray.

Business Women's Club

Papers pertaining to "Health", the national study topic for February, were heard at the Thursday session of the Business and Professional Women's Club in Masonic Temple. Dinner at 6 p. m. preceded the short business hour directed by Mrs. Joe Work, president.

Reports were received on the "Watch Your Quarters Grow" project including the successful card party of February 20. This work will end March 27.

Club members are requested to gather at the club rooms Thursday at 7:30 p. m. when the evening will be devoted to counting sales tax stamps.

Mrs. Anna Chandler as program chairman presented Mrs. F. E. Barnhill, Miss Elizabeth Drum and Mrs. Harry Stevenson, whose papers on "Health and Accidents", "Mental Health" and "Cosmetics and Health" were received with deep interest. An interesting feature was group singing of "My Calling", a song written by Miss Clara Southward.

Williamsport P-T. A.

One hundred and twenty-five were present for the Thursday session of the Williamsport Parent-Teacher Association held in the school auditorium. The Rev. F. G. Strickland led the business session which opened with group singing of "America", the Salute to the Flag and prayer by the Rev. R. S. Meyer.

During the business hour it was decided that the P-T. A. would sponsor an athletic banquet honoring the Boys' basketball team. Mrs. C. E. Brown, Mrs. Clark Smith and Mrs. W. D. Helskell were named members of the committee to work out the details for it.

A birthday party and interesting contests marked the meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the St. Paul Evangelical Church of Washington Township Thursday at the home of Mrs. G. M. Wertman of that community. During the birthday party each member told of some outstanding event in connection with one anniversary. The contests were arranged by Mrs. M. M. Bowman and Mrs. Arthur Marshall.

Mrs. Viola Glick led the devotions, Mrs. Loring Leist being in charge of the business hour.

The next meeting of the group will be at the home of Mrs. Ralph DeLong, Seyfert Avenue.

Lunch was served to 22 members and visitors by Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Boyd Stout and Mrs. Wertman.

August Marriage Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mary Magdalene Smallwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Smallwood, Washington Township, to Mr. Arthur Gail Barthelmas, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barthelmas, 126 East Mill Street.

The single ring ceremony was performed in the Methodist Church of Louisville, Ky., August 9, 1940.

Both Mr. Barthelmas and his bride were graduated from Washington Township High School in the class of 1938.

All Day Conference

The Women's Missionary Association of the United Brethren Church will have an all day conference Thursday in the community house.

Magie Sewing Club

The Magic Sewing Club will meet for its regular session Thursday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Funk, North Scioto Street.

Sub-Debs

The regular meeting of the Sub-Debs was held Wednesday at the home of Lillian and Lucille Lane, Half Avenue.

A skating party was planned for March 11 in place of the next session. The club also voted to attend church every Wednesday during Lent.

Games were enjoyed, the first prize being won by Jeanne Manson.

Light refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Eleanor Lowe was welcomed as a new member.

W. S. C. S.

The Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist Church will have its monthly session at 2 p. m. Thursday in the church parlors. Lunch will be served at noon by one of the church circles. The executive board will meet at 1:30 p. m.

Woman's Social Club

An interesting meeting of the Woman's Social Club of the Presbyterian Church will feature a program by members of the Papyrus Club, Friday at 7:30 o'clock in the church basement.

Columbus Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Turney Pontius, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Dunkle, son Jerry, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Pontius, son Victor, were dinner guests Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Younk of Columbus.

Pythian Sisters

Majors Temple, Pythian Sisters, will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the lodge room, Pythian Castle.

Logan Elm Grange

A quiz program in which all members will participate is being arranged for the Tuesday session of Logan Elm Grange by Mrs. Turney L. Pontius, worthy lecturer.

DEVINE FARM 378 ACRES

LOCATED—12 mile east of Greenfield, 13 miles west of Chillicothe, 20 miles southeast of Washington C. H., 2 miles south of Frankfort, and 1 mile south of Roxabell in Concord Township, Ross County, Ohio.

IMPROVEMENTS—Main set of buildings consists of two-story, eight room, brick house with bath, hot water heating plant, basement, and large enclosed porch on two sides of house; barn 60 x 90 with concrete floor; hog house 14 x 36; hog house 12 x 40; corn crib and tool shed combined; poultry house; smoke house; pump house; and other outbuildings. Second set of buildings consists of five-room, tenant house; barn 30 x 50, built two years ago; and outbuildings. The buildings are adequate, substantial, and in good repair. Feeding lots, adjoining the barn, have concrete floors and are enclosed with board fences. The farm is well fenced and has a never failing supply of water. 300 acres are tillable bottom land, the balance of the farm is upland which produces a wonderful growth of bluegrass. The soil is of the sandy black loam variety and has no equal in the state of Ohio from a productivity standpoint. The 300 acres of tillable, bottom land is capable of producing 100 bushel of corn per acre during a normal season if properly cared for. General farm appearances are above the average.

FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION—The Devine Farm is generally recognized as one of the best large farms in south central Ohio and seldom does the public have an opportunity to buy a farm with the quality of this one. The location is desirable, the buildings are outstanding, the soil is highly productive, and a wonderful place to live. Favorable taxes. Easy access to schools, churches and markets. One owner for past twenty-five years. Farm has not been abused or neglected. This is your opportunity to buy a GOOD FARM at absolute auction. Sells to highest bidder.

You are invited to inspect this farm before day of sale and to attend the sale.

Sale to be held on premises. Rain or Shine.

TERMS—$2,500.00 cash, bank draft or certified check to be paid on day of sale, balance to be paid on delivery of deed except existing Land Bank mortgage which can be assumed if purchaser so desires. Immediate possession. Purchaser will receive good title. Taxes will be paid to date.

GUS LESNEVICH WINS, BUT TITLE CHANCE IS GONE

DETROIT, Feb. 28—Although Heavyweight Gus Lesnevich of New Jersey today held a 10-round decision over Nathan Mann, New Haven, Conn., it was hard to believe he would even have a remote chance against Joe Louis.

Before last night's bout at Olympia, Promoter Mike Jacobs indicated Lesnevich would be matched against Louis if he kayoed Mann. Lesnevich had his chance to kayo the New Englander, but he couldn't hit hard enough.

The 3,822 spectators who paid a gross of $4,166 to see the bout were disappointed and from the fifth round on filled the air with their howls of disapproval. The only redeeming feature of the match came in the seventh and eighth when Lesnevich had Mann reeling and bleeding from the nose and cut over the right eye.

Lesnevich, who went into the ring weighing 181 pounds, tried desperately to land a solid one on Mann's chin, but he just couldn't connect with sufficient force to land Mann on the canvas. The New Haven lad weighed 187½.

His meeting this time has no titular repercussions since it is an overweight affair in which Ambers will be permitted to carry as much as 140 pounds.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS
At Clarkburg, W. Va. — Billy Conn, 182, Pittsburgh, scored technical knockout over Ira Hughes, 179, Pittsburgh Negro (4).

At Atlantic City, N. J. — Fred (Red) Cochrane, 142, Elizabeth, N. J., won on technical knockout over Roy Powell, 144, Newark, N. J. (2).

At Scranton, Pa. — Francisco Montanari, 149, Genoa, Italy, defeated Billy Furrone, 144, Scranton (8).

TIGERS TO FACE ARLINGTON FIVE

Black Hoping For Victory In Team's Last Effort On Home Court

Hoping for a victory in his team's final effort of the regular season, Coach Roy Black expressed confidence Friday that his boys will be able to take Upper Arlington's varsity in a joust on the C.A.C. court tonight.

The game will start at 8:15, a preliminary between the two reserve teams starting at 7:15.

The Tiger mentor expects to start Woods and Valentine at forwards, Moorehead at center and Staley and Geib at guards, this combination being the same one that functioned Tuesday evening in the losing cause at Washington C. H.

Arlington's strength is centered in Rosencrans, husky tipoff man, who plays the pivot position, and in Knowlton and Sohl, forwards.

Coach Walter Heischman always presents a well-drilled and capable combination and full speed the whole way will be necessary if the Red and Black expects to finish in the lead.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28 — E. R. Bradley's Bimelech, with Don Meade riding him and toting top weight of 126 pounds, looked as an odds-on favorite today for tomorrow's running of the $50,000 added Widener stake.

Biggest threat to "big Bim" in the opinion of most railbirds, will be the Greentree Stable's Hash, with Eddie Arcaro up for the mile and a quarter drive.

Both Meade and Arcaro have piled up impressive records at Hialeah, the former with 40 victories and Arcaro with 30.

"Big Bim's" regular rider, F. A. Smith, has been bothered with a sore shoulder, leading to the switch to Meade. The Meade-Bimelech combination scored last Sunday in winning a $2,500 trial race.

A longshot for the Widener will be Woodvale Farms' Haltal, with Conn McCrery, currently leading among Hialeah jockeys, slated to ride.

A number of the candidates have looked well in workouts, pointing to a thrilling race. With a fast strip, however, most observers feel the Bim will have too much. A slow track might change the lineup considerably.

AMBERS FIGHTS JENKINS WITH ODDS ON LATTER

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, Feb. 28—Lou Ambers will climb in the ring tonight with Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins, his immediate objective being a comeback from the knockout administered by Jenkins and his general idea being to launch a campaign in the welterweight circle.

Irrespective of Ambers' well laid plans, the chances today that he would either comeback or successfully launch a welterweight debut seemed to coincide with the odds on the 10-round fight, which were anywhere from 2½ to 1 to 3 to 1 that Jenkins would win and even-odds that he would do so by a repetition of his knockout performance.

Before we forget it, Ambers is growing a trifle creaky in the joints, meaning that at 27 years old his speed is diminished.

It was speed, if you recall, more than punch that made Ambers lightweight champion until he was put away in the third round of his duel with Jenkins last summer.

Since he probably is a trifle slower on the punch and somewhat less agile on the dodge, Ambers should be even easier for the 24-year-old Jenkins to hit than he was last summer. And how Jenkins can hit!

Their meeting this time has no titular repercussions since it is an overweight affair in which Ambers will be permitted to carry as much as 140 pounds.

12 x 40; corn crib and tool shed combined; poultry house; smoke house; pump house; and other outbuildings. Second set of buildings consists of five-room, tenant house; barn 30 x 50, built two years ago; and outbuildings. The buildings are adequate, substantial, and in good repair. Feeding lots, adjoining the barn, have concrete floors and are enclosed with board fences. The farm is well fenced and has a never failing supply of water. 300 acres are tillable bottom land, the balance of the farm is upland which produces a wonderful growth of bluegrass. The soil is of the sandy black loam variety and has no equal in the state of Ohio from a productivity standpoint.

The 300 acres of tillable, bottom land is capable of producing 100 bushel of corn per acre during a normal season if properly cared for. General farm appearances are above the average.
FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION—The Devine Farm is generally recognized as one of the best large farms in south central Ohio and seldom does the public have an opportunity to buy a farm with the quality of this one. The location is desirable, the buildings are outstanding, the soil is highly productive, and a wonderful place to live. Favorable taxes. Easy access to schools, churches and markets. One owner for past twenty-five years. Farm has not been abused or neglected. This is your opportunity to buy a GOOD FARM at absolute auction.

You are invited to inspect this farm before day of sale and to attend the sale.

TERMS—$2,500.00 cash, bank draft or certified check to be paid on day of sale, balance to be paid on delivery of deed except existing Land Bank mortgage which can be assumed if purchaser so desires. Immediate possession. Purchaser will receive good title. Taxes will be paid to date.

GUS LESNEVICH WINS, BUT TITLE CHANCE IS GONE

DETROIT, Feb. 28—Although Heavyweight Gus Lesnevich of New Jersey today held a 10-round decision over Nathan Mann, New Haven, Conn., it was hard to believe he would even have a remote chance against Joe Louis.

Before last night's bout at Olympia, Promoter Mike Jacobs indicated Lesnevich would be matched against Louis if he keyoed Mann. Lesnevich had his chance to kayo the New Englander, but he couldn't hit hard enough.

The 3,822 spectators who paid
a gross of $4,166 to see the bout were disappointed and from the fifth round on filled the air with their howls of disapproval. The only redeeming feature of the match came in the seventh and eighth when Lesnevich had Mann
reeling and bleeding from the nose and cut over the right eye.

Lesnevich, who went into the ring weighing 181 pounds, tried desperately to land a solid one on Mann's chin, but he just couldn't connect with sufficient force to land Mann on the canvas. The New Haven lad weighed 187 1/2.

Before we forget it, Ambers'
is growing a trifle creaky in the joints, meaning that at 27 years
old his speed is diminished.

It was speed, if you recall, more
than punch that made Ambers
lightweight champion until he
was put away in the third round
of his duel with Jenkins last summer.

Since he probably is a trifle
slower on the punch and somewhat less agile on the dodge, Am-
bers should be even easier for the 24-year-old Jenkins to hit than he was last summer. And how Jenkins can hit!

Their meeting this time has no
titular repercussions since it is an overweight affair in which Am-
bers will be permitted to carry as much as 140 pounds.

GOMEZ HOPEFUL

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb.
28 — "I'm going to have a good year," Lefty Gomez, who spent most of last year and part of 1939 out of the Yankee lineup with a sore arm, predicted today after putting in his first stretch on the mound. "I never said that before,
but I'm saying it now."

TIGERS TO FACE ARLINGTON FIVE

Black Hoping For Victory
In Team's Last Effort
On Home Court

Hoping for a victory in his team's final effort of the regular season, Coach Roy Black expressed confidence Friday that his boys will be able to take Upper Arlington's varsity in a joust on the C.A.C. court tonight.

The game will start at 8:15, a preliminary between the two reserve teams starting at 7:15.

The Tiger mentor expects to start Woods and Valentine at forwards, Moorehead at center and Staley and Geib at guards, this combination being the same one that functioned Tuesday evening in the losing cause at Washington
C. H.

Arlington's strength is centered
in Rosencrans, husky tipoff man, who plays the pivot position, and in Knowlton and Sohl, forwards.

Coach Walter Heischman always presents a well-drilled and capable combination and full speed the whole way will be necessary if the Red and Black expects to finish in the lead.

MEADE TO RIDE BIMELECH AFTER WIDENER PURSE

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28 — E. R.
Bradley's Bimelech, with Don Meade riding him and totting top weight of 126 pounds, loomed as an odds-on favorite today for tomorrow's running of the $50,000
added Widener stake.

Biggest threat to "big Bim" in the opinion of most railbirds, will be the Greentree Stable's Hash, with Eddie Arcaro up for the mile and a quarter drive.

Both Meade and Arcaro have piled up impressive records at Hialeah, the former with 40 victories and Arcaro with 30.

"Big Bim's" regular rider, F. A.
Smith, has been bothered with a sore shoulder, leading to the switch to Meade. The Meade-Bimelech combination scored last Sunday in winning a $2,500 trial race.

A longshot for the Widener will be Woodvale Farms' Haltal, with Conn. McCreary, currently leading among Hialeah jockeys, slated to ride.

A number of the candidates
have looked well in workouts, pointing to a thrilling race. With a fast strip, however, most observers feel the Bim will have too much. A slow track might change the lineup considerably.

AMBERS FIGHTS JENKINS WITH ODDS ON LATTER

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, Feb. 28—Lou Am-
bers will climb in the ring tonight with Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins, his immediate objective being a comeback from the knockout administered by Jenkins and his general idea being to launch a campaign in the welterweight circle.

Irrespective of Ambers' well laid plans, the chances today that he would either comeback or successfully launch a welterweight debut seemed to coincide with the odds on the 10-round fight, which were anywhere from 2 1/2 to 1 to 3 to 1 that Jenkins would win and even-Stephen that he would do so by a repetition of his knockout performance.

Before we forget it, Ambers'
is growing a trifle creaky in the
joints, meaning that at 27 years
old his speed is diminished.

It was speed, if you recall, more
than punch that made Ambers
lightweight champion until he
was put away in the third round
of his duel with Jenkins last summer.

Since he probably is a trifle
slower on the punch and somewhat less agile on the dodge, Am-
bers should be even easier for the 24-year-old Jenkins to hit than he was last summer. And how Jenkins can hit!

Their meeting this time has no
titular repercussions since it is an
overweight affair in which Am-
bers will be permitted to carry as
much as 140 pounds.

Goes to Army

FIRST major league baseball player of importance to get his orders to report for army duty under the selective service
act is Hugh Mulcahy, star
pitcher of the Philadelphia Phillies. Mulcahy, 27, won 13
games for the Phils last season.
He was ordered to report at Cambridge, Mass., March 8.

While the experts naturally give top ratings to W. L. Brann's Challendon and Charles S. Howard's Mioland, the race this year appears to be more open than in any recent runnings, and most of the scribes have been a bit chary in their picks.

For instance, Howard has entered Porter's Cap as Mioland's running mate, and Porter's Cap will be carrying 104 pounds, compared to 124 for Mioland and 130 for Challendon.

Gen'l Manager Fast

There there is Gen'l Manager who has once beaten and twice run second to Mioland by a nose this year. Jack Westrope will be up, and he's a money rider.

Hysterical, which finished second to Mioland in the San Antonio Handicap last Saturday, also constitutes a definite threat, while Can't Wait, Sweepie, Viscount, Woof Woof and the dark horse of the lot, Bayview, will receive strong support from those who patronize the mutual windows.

Officials of the Los Angeles Turf Club said they were prepared to handle a record crowd of more than 70,000 spectators if favorable weather prevails.

Thus far Mioland

ICY ROADS SLOW TRAFFIC; MERCURY AT 12

HIGHWAY CREWS BUSY APPLYING CINDERS, SAND

Condition Of Roadways In County Area Surveyed In State Office

MANY ARE DANGEROUS
Single Driving Violation Cited After Cruiser Is Nearly Hit

Winter lingered in and around Circleville Friday as Thursday night added more snow to the three inches already on the ground and dropped temperatures to 12.

State routes and city streets continued to be slippery as service crews worked to remove the traffic-packed snow. City crews continued to spread sand under traffic lights and at busy intersections and to remove the snow from the curbs.

State highway officials reported main roads in the county still slippery and were spreading cinders on hills and curves. Route 316 was reported in worst condition Friday morning. Route 23 north contained a few slippery spots while south of Circleville the road was clear. Route 22 east and west of the city was slippery where traffic had packed the snow at curves and hills, but cinders have been applied. Hills and curves on Route 104 were slippery but safe for travel under slow speeds, the highway department said.

Traffic in City Slow
Traffic on Court and Main Streets Thursday night and early Friday morning moved slowly over the icy pavement. No accidents were reported by the police department, although one arrest was made for reckless driving. Patrolman George Green arrested Charles Britton Blackwelder, 17-year-old Concord, N. C., Dodge motor transport driver, as his semi-unit loaded with new cars came south on North Court Street. Officer Green said Blackwelder had pulled into the middle of the street to keep tree limbs from scratching the top cars on his transport truck, and had almost skidded into the police cruiser which was going north on Court Street. Blackwelder posted a $20 bond to appear in traffic court at a later date.

Low temperature Friday was 12, six degrees above the record set on February 13, when the mercury dropped to 6.

The recent low temperatures have brought no ice to the Scioto River. Ervin Leist, disposal plant superintendent, said the river stage, which read 3.66 feet earlier in the week, was still falling and that the water was unusually low for this time of year. The cold weather has frozen the ground and kept the moisture from running into the river, he said. The river stage is expected to rise with warmer temperatures.

The weather man promised to send March in "like a lion" by predicting cloudy and colder weather for Friday night and Saturday.

ILLNESS HINDERS U. S. ORDNANCE WORK ON JUNIOR FACTORY TO BE CLASS OFFERING BUILT IN OHIO

"Old Man Measles", who has been making his rounds lately, might cause a postponement of Circleville's Junior Class play presentation of "Little Women". At present, one member of the cast is confined at home with this disease. To date, this makes a total of five members of the cast who have been stricken with the ailment since rehearsals began on the play.

The presentation of "Little Women" is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, March 6 and 7, in the Circleville High School auditorium. The play is a dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's novel "Little Women". The recently authorized three act play has been praised by various literary critics.

Setting of the play is the old fashioned parlor in the home of Reverend March in Concord, Massachusetts during the pre-Civil and post-Civil war period. Action in the play is divided into three parts—December, two weeks before Christmas, 1862; a few weeks later, 1863; and summer, six years later.

The plot of action revolves around the life of the four daughters in the March family. Samuel R. Johnson, in charge of the presentation, states that the humaneness, comedy, tragedy and romance in the play are truly typical of any modern family. Reverend March, father of the family, will be portrayed by Glenn Barnhart and Lillian Thompson will play the role of Mrs. March. Meg, the eldest daughter, will be played by Mary Lou Kochheiser, and Jo, the playwrite, by Marvina Henness and Maxine Betts.

Beth, the housekeeper, will be the part of Marcella Cunningham, and Eleanor Thomas is practicing the part of the artist, Amy. Margaret Boggs and Barbara Caskey will act as Mr. March's elder sister, Aunt March. Laurie, the grandson of a wealthy neighbor, will be presented by William Burget and his teacher, John Brook, will be Harry Clifton's role in the production. A German teacher is also a member of the cast and will be portrayed by Stewart Martin.

Curtain time for the play, presented by special arrangement with Samuel French, is 8:15 p. m. Martin display service will provide the setting.

All junior class members are distributing tickets for the project. Reservation of seats will begin at Hamilton and Ryan's Drug Store, Monday, at 11:30 a. m.

TWO TO DO JOB PREVIOUSLY HELD BY GILSON LIGHT

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28 — With Lt. Col. R. B. Lee of Toledo named acting adjutant general of Ohio to succeed the late Maj. Gen. Gilson D. Light, who died Wednesday night at Toledo, Republican legislative leaders today planned to seek quick action on a bill that would eliminate the present requirement that the adjutant general be named from a list of federally-recognized officers.

It was pointed out that nearly all such officers on the active list already have been inducted into federal service. To appoint any such officer at the present time would require permission of the federal government.

Meanwhile, Governor Bricker was expected to delay for some time the selection of Light's successors as adjutant general and as head of the state selective service. Colonel Lee had been serving as acting assistant adjutant general.

While President Roosevelt will make the actual appointment of the state selective service head, the recommendation of Governor Bricker is tantamount to appointment. It was believed that Bricker would name two men to take over the two jobs General Light held.

Full military honors will be accorded at General Light's funeral services tomorrow afternoon at Toledo. Burial will be in Woodland cemetery there. In Columbus, flags atop all state buildings were flown at half-mast, and many state officials planned to go to Toledo for the funeral services.

The Ohio house of representatives adopted a resolution expressing regret at Light's sudden death and sending condolences to his family, and named the Lucas County delegation to represent the lower chamber of the legislature at the services tomorrow. The senate will adopt a resolution of sympathy at its Monday night session.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—A contract for the construction of a $16,150,000 ordnance plant at Canton, O., was awarded today by the navy to the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The plant will be used for the manufacture and assembly of Ordnance equipment required by the navy for the defense program. Under the contract, Westinghouse will construct and equip the firm, but it will be owned by the navy, officials said. The fee set for the contractor was $425,000.

The plant is to be constructed on a site in the vicinity of Canton, which was purchased recently by the navy. Eventually the plant is to have a personnel of 2,000. The plant will manufacture gun mountings, gun slides, turret items, recoil mechanisms, breech housings and blocks, but would not manufacture gun barrels.

It would, however, be equipped for complete assembly, and eventually small arms, including barrels, may be turned out, according to officials.

The Canton plant is one of four planned by the navy. The others are to be located at Detroit, Mich.; Indianapolis, Ind., and Macon, Ga.

U. S. citizens are spending more money for newspaper subscriptions now than even in the lush days of 1929, according to the Census. Annual newspaper receipts from subscriptions amount to over $306,000,000. This was an annual increase of $18,685,000 in ten years.

COUNTY YOUTH HAS TWO ROLES IN SCHOOL PLAYS

John Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Peters of Madison Township, is cast in two Theta Alpha Phi fraternity plays at Ohio Wesleyan to be presented March 7 and 8.

Peters has the part of Bailey in "Gammer Gurton's Needle", a medieval farce, and the role of Glutony in "Dr. Faustus", a Christopher Marlowe tragedy. He is a senior at Ohio Wesleyan.

Edward Payson Weston, noted pedestrian, first attracted attention by walking 443 miles in 208 hours in 1861 to attend the inauguration of Abraham Lincoln.

ICY ROADS SLOW TRAFFIC; MERCURY AT 12

HIGHWAY CREWS BUSY APPLYING CINDERS, SAND

Condition Of Roadways In County Area Surveyed In State Office

MANY ARE DANGEROUS

Single Driving Violation Cited After Cruiser Is Nearly Hit

Winter lingered in and around Circleville Friday as Thursday night added more snow to the three inches already on the ground and dropped temperatures to 12.

State routes and city streets continued to be slippery as service crews worked to remove the traffic-packed snow. City crews continued to spread sand under traffic lights and at busy intersections and to remove the snow from the curbs.

State highway officials reported main roads in the county still slippery and were spreading cinders on hills and curves. Route 316 was reported in worst condition Friday morning. Route 23 north contained a few slippery spots while south of Circleville the road was clear. Route 22 east and west of the city was slippery where traffic had packed the snow at curves and hills, but cinders have been applied. Hills and curves on Route 104 were slippery but safe for travel under slow speeds, the highway department said.

Traffic in City Slow

Traffic on Court and Main Streets Thursday night and early Friday morning moved slowly over the icy pavement. No accidents were reported by the police department, although one arrest was made for reckless driving. Patrolman George Green arrested Charles Britton Blackwelder, 17-year-old Concord, N. C., Dodge motor transport driver, as his semi-unit loaded with new cars came south on North Court Street. Officer Green said Blackwelder had pulled into the middle of the street to keep tree limbs from scratching the top cars on his transport truck, and had almost skidded into the police cruiser which was going north on Court Street. Blackwelder posted a $20 bond to appear in traffic court at a later date.

Low temperature Friday was 12, six degrees above the record set on February 13, when the mercury dropped to 6.

The recent low temperatures have brought no ice to the Scioto River. Ervin Leist, disposal plant superintendent, said the river stage, which read 3.66 feet earlier in the week, was still falling and that the water was unusually low for this time of year. The cold weather has frozen the ground and kept the moisture from running into the river, he said. The river stage is expected to rise with warmer temperatures.

The weather man promised to send March in "like a lion" by predicting cloudy and colder weather for Friday night and Saturday.

"Old Man Measles", who has been making his rounds lately, might cause a postponement of Circleville's Junior Class play presentation of "Little Women". At present, one member of the cast is confined at home with this disease. To date, this makes a total of five members of the cast who have been stricken with the ailment since rehearsals began on the play.

The presentation of "Little Women" is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, March 6 and 7, in the Circleville High School auditorium. The play is a dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's novel "Little Women". The recently authored three act play has been praised by various literary critics.

Setting of the play is the old fashioned parlor in the home of Reverend March in Concord, Massachusetts during the pre-Civil and post-Civil war period. Action in the play is divided into three parts—December, two weeks before Christmas, 1862; a few weeks later, 1863; and summer, six years later.

The plot of action revolves around the life of the four daughters in the March family. Samuel R. Johnson, in charge of the presentation, states that the humaneness, comedy, tragedy and romance in the play are truly typical of any modern family. Reverend March, father of the family, will be portrayed by Glenn Barnhart and Lillian Thompson will play the role of Mrs. March. Meg, the eldest daughter, will be played by Mary Lou Kochheiser, and Jo, the playwrite, by Marvina Hennes and Maxine Betts.

Beth, the housekeeper, will be the part of Marcella Cunningham, and Eleanor Thomas is practicing the part of the artist, Amy. Margaret Boggs and Barbara Caskey will act as Mr. March's elder sister, Aunt March. Laurie, the grandson of a wealthy neighbor, will be presented by William Brookget and his teacher, John Brookget. A German teacher is also a member of the cast and will be portrayed by Stewart Martin.

Curtain time for the play, presented by special arrangement with Samuel French, is 8:15 p. m. Martin display service will provide the setting.

All junior class members are distributing tickets for the project. Reservation of seats will begin at Hamilton and Ryan's Drug Store, Monday, at 11:30 a. m.

TWO TO DO JOB PREVIOUSLY HELD BY GILSON LIGHT

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28 — With Lt. Col. R. B. Lee of Toledo named acting adjutant general of Ohio to succeed the late Maj. Gen. Gilson D. Light, who died Wednesday night at Toledo, Republican legislative leaders today planned to seek quick action on a bill that would eliminate the present requirement that the adjutant general be named from a list of federally-recognized officers.

It was pointed out that nearly all such officers on the active list already have been inducted into federal service. To appoint any such officer at the present time would require permission of the federal government.

Meanwhile, Governor Bricker was expected to delay for some time the selection of Light's successors as adjutant general and as head of the state selective service. Colonel Lee had been serving as acting assistant adjutant general.
